

AMERICAS SEEK TO AVERT WAR AT GRAN CHACO

not change its attitude. It gave the neutrals an opening for a new proposal, however, by declaring it wanted a "fundamental settlement" of the Chaco dispute.

Aside from the note sent by the five neutrals, Great Britain was placed in the efficacy for peace of the Pan-American representation to be made later today. Assistant Secretary of State Francis B. Saypol and the Latin-American diplomats have been working on them ardently for several days.

According to reliable information, these representations will be sensational in nature. They are to be more than a mere plea for cessation of hostile acts. They are expected to consolidate Pan-American nations in support of a new peace doctrine designed to be as far-reaching in effect as the Monroe doctrine itself.

PARAGUAY WOMEN WOULD JOIN ARMY

ASUNCION, Paraguay, Aug. 3.—(UP)—Paraguay mobilized today for war against Bolivia with women pleading for a chance to fight in the ranks.

President Jose P. Guggiarini signed a mobilization decree calling up army reserves for men between the ages of 22 and 29 and officers between 20 and 30 after issuing a manifesto declaring that "the entire nation must rise to arms. The manifesto blamed Bolivia for provoking war. It said Paraguay's attempts at peaceful settlement of the Gran Chaco dispute had been fruitless.

"The hour has sounded when Paraguay must definitely withstand the invader," the manifesto said. "Paraguay of Paraguay has been ineffectual to avert this war. I assure victory for our undoubtedly superior race, for ours is the cause of right and civilization."

Referring to the Bolivian "attacks" on Paraguayan posts in the Chaco, the president said:

"America witnessed our efforts to solve the dispute by legal means, but our attitude was ineffective, as also was the goodwill of many friendly countries to avert this war staining the decorum of American civilization."

Several hundred women of the city of Concepcion appealed to the government for a chance to "use arms for the fatherland." They took an oath not to use rouge, powder or perfume until the Chaco is "freed of the Bolivian invader."

Military officials declined to comment on the offer.

The government announced it would not accept the offer of the good offices of Spain to settle the dispute.

The presidential manifesto indicated the Paraguayans counted the aggressive behavior of the Chaco as an aid to their soldiers, claiming that the Bolivians, used to higher altitudes, could not stand it. A statement said 600 Bolivian infantrymen deserted and fled across the Pilcomayo river suffering from the heat.

multitude because of divided opinion. Modification or repeal is the right of a free people, whenever the deliberate and intelligent public sentiment commands, but perversion and evasion mark the paths to the failure of government itself.

There is no copyright on this little sample acceptance speech. It is taken verbatim from the one Warren G. Harding delivered at Marion, O., 12 years ago.

GLIDING POPULARITY

MOSCOW.—Along with the increasing popularity of powered flying in the Soviet, gliding, too, is setting its share of experimentation. A glider factory is being built here to turn out 1500 sailplanes annually, and the Friends of Aviation, a Russian aeronautics club, plans to organize gliding chapters all over the country. Schools for this type of flying have been set up here, in the Crimea, and Siberia.

News Behind the News

WASHINGTON
By Paul Mallon

OUTLOOK

The best advised outlook on the business situation is this:

Capital is being regimented to pull together in the market. The bulls are beginning their inning. There are plenty of stocks on a net worth basis far below their fair selling price. Concentration on these should produce a brave showing.

But only better employment conditions out through the country will sustain the rise. These conditions are only faintly in the making. It remains to be seen whether they will be helped or hurt by the Wall Street anticipation.

The chances are we will have a strong rise, something of a drop, another rise, another drop and so on with the average working upward. Social disorders would alter this prospect.

The times call for optimistic caution.

The Administration squinted disapprovingly at the surge in the stock market last week. They thought prices were going up too fast.

Its inside advisers were encouraging but not as encouraging as the market. Commodity price levels were off one-eighth of one per cent last week after a four week rise amounting in all to about two and a half per cent. Reassuringly, the market reached high quarters from the West regarding wheat. A steady increase in price is looked for.

A demand for building materials will be created within 60 days when the Government throws that billion and a half relief wedge into the situation.

It is figured that will take care of any bad effects from over-optimism in Wall street.

President Hoover had his afternoon paper opened to the stock market page when callers entered his office last Friday. He personally professes little respect or regard for the market either as a business barometer or an economic assistance.

The personal wall of the Administration now is:

"Every time we got things started a little better, the stock market came along and blew them down. Now it is blowing us up too far."

FUNDS

Senator Hebert of Rhode Island was selected as eastern Republican manager because no one more prominent was available. Hillier and Roraback are known to have turned it down. There were probably several others. Hebert has saved some of his fortune out of the textile situation and may be a help to the slander campaign fund.

BORAH

Congress has quit but Senator Borah is in session for the summer. He meets the press in a regular conference, each afternoon in his office. No other Washington official gets such close coverage from the correspondents. Through them the Senator is exerting a more powerful influence on government now than when Congress was in session. He plants his stories with them and they plant theirs with him.

SHORT HOURS

The President is meeting with strong inner difficulties in putting across his five day week idea for government employees. Only the Labor Department has been able to work out a schedule for it yet. Mr. Hoover is determined to go through despite objections. Within six months the five day week will be the accepted principle for Federal workers. Then he will start in to promote the idea for private industry—unless it has become someone else's job.

NOTES

What gives the Administration more confidence than anything else is that Europe's run on American dollars has spent itself and failed. . . . That will enable us to slip out a little more money under the Borah-Glass inflation amendment without fear of what Europe will do to us. . . . The gold is now flowing this way. . . . The real danger is that the public may get burned again in the stock market which would delay any recovery another six months. . . . Senator Copeland of New York goes to see the President about every two months and always announces later that the President is in good health. . . . It gets good news paper play and helps his syndicated health articles. . . .

NEW YORK

By James McMullin

OUTLOOK

The newly born wave of optimism started the financial district. Expert opinion can see no reason for it beyond psychology but believes that the psychology itself may bring about improved conditions if it is sustained long enough. This view is based on the fact that the motor industry and others have shown themselves extremely responsive in the past to the curve of stock prices.

The most serious threat to the baby boom is seen in the possibility of foreign complications. It is feared that a default on private debts by any single European country would start a chain of defaults that might have serious repercussions here.

In this connection, Von Schleicher's firebrand speech in favor of German armaments is causing uneasiness. Von Schleicher's further emergence from backstage as Germany's new Bismarck will be watched closely.

STOCK MARKET

Foreign buying of American securities—referred to in this column a week ago—was a prominent factor in starting the stock market snowball uphill. This buying still continues and now covering a broad range of stocks. Dutch purchasers have been quite prominent recently. Dutch financial judgment is proverbially hard-boiled.

It should not be overlooked that large American operators work this way and have done a fair share of the foreign buying.

Some of the buying that has helped the wave along has come from the most responsible financial sources. Several pools have gone into action in the old-time way. Radio Corporation, among others, has been the beneficiary of pool activities.

A certain large investment trust either did some extraordinary successful guessing or had valuable advance information. Bids were made for six different stocks at their absolute low point and all six have gained from 30 to 100 per cent since.

A fair amount of the so-called "wise money" was trapped on the short side during the week. These fellows will probably run to cover at the first sign of a recession, which should prevent any downward tendencies from going very far in the near future.

Most brokers have been running in circles with their fingers crossed since the fireworks started. They keep pinching themselves to be sure it's true and not just a lovely dream. The increase in trading activity gave several commission houses a new lease on life. Some of them were all set for dissolution when business suddenly began to pick up.

STEEL

Executives of several steel companies are working for an extensive realignment of the industry. The idea will be to create a strong cooperative organization for the purpose of planning production and eliminating unnecessary competition. A number of these executives are also strong advocates of the six day week and five day week for their firm.

NICKEL

There is reason to believe that International Nickel is planning a shutdown of its mining properties in the near future. This would give the company an opportunity to work off its surplus stocks of nickel and copper which are already above ground.

STOCK MARKET CONTINUES TO MOVE UPWARD

mon dividend. The dividend was not earned in the first half, but many anticipated a payment would be ordered as a mark of confidence in the future.

The causes for the rise were not clear cut, but the outstanding one was a rise in wheat. Traders had anticipated further reactionary tendencies and many bears had made new short commitments. When the market failed to break as expected, these shorts covered. The buying gained momentum and was assisted by a sharp recovery in the bond market which followed about the same course as stocks—down in the early trading and up later in the day.

Business barometers changed little. Steel production fell a point to 15 per cent of capacity, according to the Iron Age, but sentiment was still buoyant. Electricity output was down 12.4 per cent in the week ended July 30 as compared with the 1931 week. In the preceding week the dip from 1931 was 13.1 per cent. Oil production in the week ended July 30 was down 68,350 barrels daily, and gasoline stocks were down 1,233,000 barrels. Bradstreet's and Dunn's monthly commodity indexes made substantial gains in July.

Chiropractors Of County Meet Here

Members of the Orange County Chiropractic Society of Progressive Methods met last night at the home of Dr. Dalton Clelland, Santa Ana. The meeting was well attended.

Dr. C. J. Rulley delivered an address on colon therapy, illustrated by a number of x-ray photos. Following his address the subject was discussed by Dr. E. F. Badgley, of Anaheim and Dr. H. R. Smith of this city. Dr. R. O. Grover spoke briefly on new methods used in this work.

BOMBING "TEACHER"

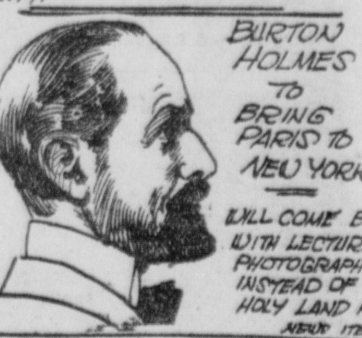

HONOLULU.—Bombing teachers on the VP Squadron 1, at Pearl Harbor, have rigged up a clever contrivance to teach the fine art of bombing. It is composed of a platform on an old electric truck about 14 feet high. The top of the platform is rigged like the bow of a PK-1 seaplane and a regular bomb sight is installed. A target is pulled along the floor and the pupil pilots his "plane" at the direction of the bomber.

LEGION HEADS AT COST MESA ARE NOMINATED

COSTA MESA, Aug. 3.—The first meeting of Costa Mesa Post No. 455, in its new headquarters at the Derby ranch was held Monday evening.

With the opening of nominations of officers for the ensuing year a lively interest in the affairs of the post was manifest by the rapid fire order in which the following nominations were made:

For post commander: Commander R. R. Jones, John Wilcox, Lou Slothower, Frank Vaughn and Roy Kahler.

First vice commander: John Jones, Emmett Allen, J. C. Payne, Claude Ramsey, Ed Smykol, Frank Vaughn, Ed Crabtree and Lou Slothower.

Second vice commander: C. W. Alvord, Emmett Allen, L. L. Patch, Ed Crabtree and Ed Hixon. Adjutant: John Wilcox and Andrew Mandery.

Finance officer: L. Cramer, Lou Slothower, Roy Kahler, J. C. Payne and C. W. Alvord. Chaplain: Roy Kahler, L. L. Patch, Comrade Lambert and Comrade Norris.

After considerable discussion a motion carried fixing the dues at $4 for the ensuing year.

Commander R. R. Jones is the author of the following resolution which was adopted at this meeting:

"Be It Resolved, That the American Legion of California, in convention assembled, do hereby go on record that it is the wish of this convention that the Legionnaires of this state do clip out from the daily press or periodicals any articles defaming our organization and send them to our state department and that said department cause to have written articles placed in Legion publications refuting anything which is untrue and exaggerated and that it shall be the duty of the publicity man of the state and local posts to endeavor to have the local press in their respective communities make reprints of such articles to the end that the general public may know the facts about the ideals, objects and accomplishments of the American Legion, and also have printed from time to time excerpts from the preamble to the constitution.

Next meeting will be August 15 at Derby ranch.

The delegates from Costa Mesa post No. 455 to the convention at Oakland will present this resolution for adoption.

nomic conditions and economic recovery awaits its solution."

Tariffs are too high, Borah said, although he said he as a Republican favored some sort of protection. He said he did not believe in an embargo but did believe that there should be revision of the schedules on farm products.

"The farm problem can be solved only when a market abroad is found for our surplus products," Borah explained. "Then that problem will be cleared up."

MUSSOLINI IN ARTICLE RAPS WORLD PEACE

(COPYRIGHT, 1932, BY UNITED PRESS)

ROME, Aug. 3.—(UP)—War apparently cannot be abolished and Fascism does not stand for pacifism, Premier Benito Mussolini declares in a frank and astounding article to be published tomorrow in the Popolo D'Italia at Milan, and later in all Italian newspapers.

When considering the future development of mankind, the premier writes "Fascism does not believe in the possibility or utility of perpetual peace."

Fascism, he said, "casts aside pacifism, which implies renunciation of struggle. Only war brings human energies to their full force, placing the seal of nobility on people who have the courage to face it."

The article, signed by Mussolini and entitled "Political and Social Doctrine," disapproves of doctrinaire attempts to create an atmosphere of world peace.

"Such organizations are useful in certain situations," he said, "but vanish before the wind of a temporary people's hearts."

Mussolini belittles democracy.

"Fascism," he writes, "denies that governments can be organized by periodical consultations with the masses. Democracy is a regime without a king but with countless kings who often are more tyrannical than any single tyrant."

THREE WIN OUT IN GOVERNOR'S RACE

KANSAS CITY, Kan., Aug. 2.—(UP)—A hot gubernatorial contest in the November elections loomed today as a result of Tuesday's primary balloting definitely assured nomination of favorites in early returns.

The contestants will be Gov. Harry Woodring, Democrat, Alf M. Langdon, widely known oil man, Republican, and John R. Brinkley, goat gland specialist of Milford, running as an independent.

Governor Woodring was renominated by an overwhelming majority. Returns from 1940 out of 2878 precincts gave Woodring 39,077, Donald Muir, 15,908; Walter Eggers, 5428.

HOWELL IS LEADING CLARKE IN PRIMARY

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 3.—(UP)—Charles M. Howell today forged in to the lead for the Democratic nomination for United States senator, with approximately one-third of Missouri's 4205 precincts reported yesterday primary.

Kansas City gave Howell a 70,000 lead to more than balance Benet Champ Clark's early lead from other parts of the state. At 8 a. m. 1385 precincts reported from over the state gave Howell 80,702, Clark 61,414, Hay 28,247.

ENGLISH AVIATRIX ON WITNESS STAND

COURTROOM, MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 3.—(UP)—Mrs. Jessie M. Keith-Miller, Australian woman flyer, whom the state contends was the principal in the alleged love triangle which resulted in the death of Haden Clarke, mounted the witness stand to testify for the prosecution at noon today in the first degree murder trial of Capt. William N. Lancaster, British flyer.

Mrs. Keith-Miller had been subpoenaed as a witness by both state and defense, though she had steadily sided with the defendant Lancaster in the contention the Clarke, her fiancé, committed suicide.

Mr. and Mrs. Voter!

DID YOU KNOW

that the Board of Supervisors, handling public business and spending public money, frequently adjourn to their "huddle" room to discuss YOUR affairs in secret session, leaving taxpayers alone in the public meeting room, and that such treatment was recently given your city officials who were asking for a fair distribution of the gasoline tax which YOU helped to pay?

How long would you continue to hire employees who would retire for secret conference when you directed or asked them to perform the duties which you were paying them to perform?

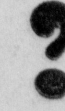

DID YOU KNOW

that in the second year of the depression real estate taxes collected by the county collector actually increased $382,257.59 over 1929-30, and only public approval of the assessor's actions in trimming the assessments prevented maintenance of these high taxes in the third year of the depression just closed?

Doesn't it get your goat when you have to beg, plead with, and almost have to browbeat an employee to have your wishes carried out? Is it incompetence or design which prevents a quicker realization than three years, of the needs and desires of the people?

DID YOU KNOW

that each Supervisor rules as a dictator in his own district and if he wants to spend tax money to build a "political" highway to induce or reward support, or if he wants to lease public beach for a private camp, the remainder of the board consent?

The county treasury appears to be a "grab bag", and each district representative consents to grabbing by the other four provided they will permit him to grab, also.

Is it any wonder that 20 per cent of the people's income is required to pay the costs of government, which takes $1 out of every $5 earned, and that taxpayers have had to associate themselves together to deflate the taxes and save their homes and farms from confiscation? The Orange County Civic League is such an organization—fighting YOUR battles—and as such deserves your sympathy and support.

Times are hard, and perhaps you can't contribute as much as you would like, but we all must share the cost and do our bit. Others, too, are short of money, and it is unfair to expect them to carry the burden which YOU should help to bear, if you want the work of the Civic League continued. The Civic League is your agency, to help reduce YOUR taxes and secure a representative government, and must have your support if it is to obtain the results which YOU want. Send a dollar or more TODAY!

DAVIS JAILLED IN RECKLESS DRIVING CASE

John Davis, of 1415 West First street, arrested by Sergeant A. L. Steward Monday after he had escaped from the officer Sunday afternoon in a wild chase about the city, pleaded guilty to reckless driving before Judge J. G. Mitchell in the city police court yesterday afternoon and was fined $250 with an alternate of spending 125 days in jail.

On a charge of breaking glass on the pavement, he also pleaded guilty and was sentenced to serve 30 days in the county jail, this sentence being suspended by the court on condition that he does not violate a state law for one year.

The second charge was filed after Steward swore to a complaint charging that during the chase of Sunday, Davis tossed out of his car several bottles of whiskey. Unable to pay the $250 fine, Davis was lodged in the county jail.

EXCHANGE RATE IS FIXED FOR FOOD PRODUCTS

A definite rate of valuation for exchanging food products among the various unemployed associations in Orange county communities was agreed upon at a meeting of presidents of community association held here yesterday, whereby values are set at market prices.

The associations have been adding to the number of food articles in each community by exchanging various products which have been collected. Some difficulty has been encountered in establishing a rate of exchange in the past, but with the action taken yesterday the matter is believed to be settled, officials say.

Food will be exchanged by the associations on the basis of produce market rates published daily in newspapers, according to Frank Morris, chairman of the Orange County association.

Representing a membership of 9000, delegates to the meeting were present from Santa Ana, Fullerton, Brea, Anaheim, La Habra, Garden Grove, Stanton, Midway City, Ocean View, Newport Beach, Seal Beach, Barber City and Huntington Beach.

COURT EXPERIENCES RELATED BY WEST

Franklin West, Santa Ana attorney, who is a candidate for superior court bench, gave a very interesting talk to the Santa Ana 20-20 club at its meeting last night at Ketter's cafe on interesting cases which have been handled in the Orange county courts during the past years.

He explained that attorneys are often called upon to represent criminals who have no funds with which to obtain a lawyer to defend themselves, and recalled the Remington case in which he was called upon to act as counsel for the defense. Remington was charged with robbing the Olive bank. Criminals, he said, will often perjure themselves in the effort to obtain the acquittal of the man charged with the crime. West pointed out the fact that a great many criminals are intelligent men and if they had had the proper environment and influence they would be good up-right citizens and no doubt prosper in any business they entered. Music was furnished at the dinner by Al Smith and his playboys. Plans are being made for a steak bake to be held on July 16. Joel Oggle is in charge of this event.

Local Briefs

The Fraternal Aid Union will meet tomorrow night at 6:30 o'clock at the Modern Woodman hall for a pot luck dinner and the regular meeting of the organization, according to J. Wylie Harris, secretary. Following the dinner there will be initiation of candidates and a business session.

No one was hurt when automobiles driven by Julian A. Hayes, of Laguna Beach and C. M. Falls, of 604 East Fourth street, Santa Ana, collided yesterday at Seventeenth and Baker streets, according to a report filed with the city police.

Dr. H. E. Zaiser, head of the Orange county hospital has returned to his home here after a two weeks' vacation spent on the desert.

A strictly business meeting for members only is to be held at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the headquarters offices, Tenth and Main streets, by the Unemployed association of Santa Ana. It was announced today by T. A. Broderick, chairman. Broderick urged all members to be present as matters of importance are to come up for action, he said.

Unemployed Request Fruit Jars

More fruit jars are needed by the Santa Ana Unemployed association to can supplies of food stuffs which have been donated to the unemployed of the community, it was declared today by officials of the organization.

Lack of fruit jars is handicapping the association in its work of canning food for use next winter, it is said, and the public is asked to call headquarters, phone 5610, if any assistance can be given in this respect. Two tons of peaches which had been received for canning had to be disposed of to members of the association for immediate use last Saturday because of a lack of canning supplies, Chairman T. A. Broderick said today.

BIXBY RESIGNS AS MANAGER OF HELLMAN RANCH

Fred H. Bixby, for many years manager of the Hellman estate ranch properties in the vicinity of Seal Beach has retired and Frank Crowley, of San Francisco, is now manager of the entire ranch interests of the Hellman estate, which include 7000 acres near Seal Beach and extensive properties near McGill, California.

Management of his own ranch properties and cattle interests which required his entire attention, was cited by Bixby as the cause of his resignation from the Hellman estate management. The 7000 acres, most of which is located in Orange county, is said to be one of the most modern and best equipped stock ranches in Southern California. Several hundred beef cattle are fattened at the ranch at all times. This year 2500 acres was planted in barley, 1200 acres in sugar beets and 500 acres in alfalfa, according to Elmer Hughes, ranch foreman.

COUNCIL ASKED TO REINSTATE NIGHT OFFICER

LA HABRA, Aug. 3.—A group of about thirty-five citizens were present at the council meeting of La Habra city Tuesday evening. H. L. Savage, their spokesman, asked the council to reconsider their action of more than a week ago, when they let out C. Riley, night officer. Savage stated that Riley was a local man and had given very satisfactory service, and although it necessitated a three-man force, he would ask his reinstatement.

After much discussion between members of the council and the audience, Mayor L. E. Proud stated that the board had considered long before making this move, but inasmuch as the subject this year called for only two men, they felt that they had acted wisely in releasing Riley. Councilman Thurmer made a motion for the reinstatement of Riley which was seconded by Newton, but when a roll call vote was taken, the motion was lost.

Other business of the council at this meeting had to do with the removal of the dips in Central avenue and it was decided to replace the pavement with the same material through La Habra.

It was further decided, in order to decrease expenditures for the coming year that 23 street lamps be eliminated. These eliminations have been made where it seemed lights were least needed.

Musical Program For Breakfasters
Two juvenile entertainers and a talented soprano soloist are scheduled on the program for the Santa Ana Breakfast club at Ketter's cafe tomorrow morning, according to Barney Koster, program chairman.

The juveniles are Margaret Alvord, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Alvord, of 825 South Broadway, and Arthur Benfield, Anaheim youth. Miss Alvord will sing and dance and Benfield will play several piano numbers.

The soloist of the day is Mrs. Sally Mueller, of the Southern California Telephone company.

Police News
Mrs. Howard Campbell, 28, of Hollywood, was arrested by Anaheim police officers at 8:30 a. m. today. They brought her to the county jail where she is booked on charges of drunkenness and possession of liquor.

RECEIPTS AT SUPERVISORIAL POST OFFICE SHOW INCREASE MEET FRIDAY

Hot on the heels of a steady upward swing of the stock market and a definite feeling of optimism and faith in business conditions in Santa Ana and Orange county, comes an announcement today from the post office that postal receipts for the past month are the highest of the year and exceed receipts for the same month last year.

Last month the local post office took in receipts amounting to $12,844.03 against $12,436.15 taken in during July, 1931. Receipts for June of this year were $10,838.55, which makes more than a $2000 gain for July over the previous month this year.

According to Assistant Postmaster Flake Smith, this is the first time the receipts have shown a definite increase during the current year. Increased postal rates went into effect early last month.

ASSERTS WATER IS CAUSE OF $1386 DAMAGES

Because irrigation water was permitted to escape and run into the basement of a two-story building, John Pope and Elton W. Lord were named defendants in a $1386.49 damage action filed against them by D. V. Maroney, of Orange, and others.

Maroney, who is owner of property in the Yarnell tract of Orange, charged in his suit that Pope owned the adjoining property. On April 24, last, according to the complaint, Lord, as an employee of Pope, was engaged in irrigating citrus trees on the Pope property and allowed the water to escape.

The escaping water, according to Maroney, flowed into the basement of a building on his property and caused considerable damage. Because of the water flowing into the basement 12 pillars of the house settled and the elevator shaft washed clear of its support, it is charged. The water is also alleged to have caused flooring on the first floor of the building to buckle and the walls to crack.

DOCTOR WHO AIDED MEXICAN IS SOUGHT

Santa Ana police were today endeavoring to locate a physician who yesterday afternoon picked up a Mexican youth at Lincoln and Washington avenues to determine from the doctor, if possible the identity of the youth.

The boy is believed to have stolen the automobile owned by Paul King, of 1316 Polinsetta street, taken from in front of his residence. The car was stolen at 1:30 p. m. and was wrecked by the Mexican boy at 2:35 when it crashed into a Santa Fe Railroad battery box. After the crash the boy was seen to leave the car and to have gotten into a car driven by a doctor.

King recovered his car, which was badly damaged. C. D. Anderson, of 1601 West Fifth street, reported the theft of his automobile from a place where it was parked on Twentieth street east of Main street yesterday afternoon. It has not been recovered.

Shoulder Injured In Auto Collision

Claude Mallico, 25, of Anaheim, suffered a dislocated shoulder at 5 p. m. yesterday when an automobile in which he was riding, driven by H. O. Simmons, 48, of 258 East Central avenue, La Habra, collided with a car driven by Ellish L. Coe, 68, of 1911 Lewis street, Long Beach, at Stanton and Ball roads.

Mallico was taken to the Orange county hospital where he was given medical treatment. His condition today was reported as improved and hospital attendants said he was not seriously hurt.

NO MORE BACKACHES

The pain that women suffer every month is bad enough without adding to it the awful dread of aching back, severe headaches and dizzy spells. Men grow tired of complaining wives. Take a lesson from the life and stop this monthly worry. Of course, something can be done about it... hundreds of women have proved this.

SUPERVISORIAL ASPIRANTS TO MEET FRIDAY

All candidates for supervisor from the First district have been invited to attend a meeting to be held at 7:30 o'clock Friday night at the Julia Lathrop Junior High school on South Main street.

The meeting has been called by Dale Elliott, of 1032 West First street, who said today that he did not represent any body or organization, but that he thought the voters would like to see and hear all of the candidates at one time.

He said he attempted to have the meeting held in some of the grammar schools located on the west side of the city so that his neighbors who wanted to attend the meeting would not have far to go, but that he found the Junior Lathrop school the only one available.

ISSUE WARNING ON MUSHROOM SCHEME

Reports have come through the state bureau of plant industry that unprincipled promoters have been selling spaw to people who know little or nothing about how to produce mushrooms, or how or where to market them, if they can be sold at all. This announcement was made by Farm Advisor Harold Wahlberg for the benefit of people approached on the subject.

"These promoters have been describing mushroom growing as a new and unexploited business, requiring only small capital and not much experience, and saying that the prospects for large profits were almost certain because of alleged scarcity and high prices paid for mushrooms. Wahlberg said. 'The claims made have, for the most part, been misleading. In the last few years the price of mushrooms in the large markets has been about 25 cents a pound, instead of the much higher prices indicated by these promoters. Some of the advertisements were so worded as to imply that the promoters guaranteed that the original expenses could be recouped from sales, and even to indicate that the promoting company would undertake to buy all the crop grown from the spawn it sold. 'Mushroom growing is not a new and unexploited industry. More than 15,000,000 pounds have been grown in the United States annually in recent years. In many localities in the last year growers have had to sell their product below cost of production because of unfavorable market conditions.'

BUILDERS HEAR EXPLANATION OF HOME LOANS

Acting on the suggestion of Homer Cheney, assistant trust officer for the First National bank, members of the Orange County Builders' Exchange last night adopted a motion favoring establishment of a Federal Home Loan bank in Los Angeles and urging appointment of an Orange county man to the board of directors. The motion was introduced by Allison Hiner at the monthly meeting held in Ketter's cafe.

After explaining regulations for establishment of the Home Loan banks, Cheney said that in his opinion the individual home owner who is in financial difficulty will benefit through the project. With savings banks, building and loan organizations and insurance companies that deal in home loans, eligible to membership, Cheney said that it already has been indicated that building and loan organizations, particularly, are planning to use money secured through the bank to satisfy the demands of certificate holders. Actual benefit in the matter of new construction will not be felt for a long time, he said.

Cheney said that if the Home Loan banks are to the building and loan and savings banks what the Federal Reserve bank is to the commercial bank, it will not be much help.

Funds From R. F. C. Cheney explained that the $125,000,000 Home Loan bank was authorized to relieve the stagnation in building. The permanent organization will consist of from eight to 12 banks in various parts of the United States. Capital for the bank will be advanced from the Reconstruction Finance corporation. Institutions eligible to membership must subscribe to the stock on a pro rata basis.

To secure a loan, the borrowing organization must put up collateral consisting of mortgages of $10,000 or less on property valued at not more than $20,000. This, Cheney said, was to limit aid to residence property only.

Mortgages being paid on a monthly payment basis must be 40 per cent paid and not more than 40 per cent of the value of the property. On authorized loans the mortgage must be for 30 per cent of the face value and 50 per cent paid, he explained.

After discussion of results obtained through a recent survey of prevailing wages paid in the building trades, members of the Exchange voted to use the information secured only as the result

DR. ROSS MAKES EMPHATIC DENIAL OF BIXBY CHARGES CONCERNING PLANT ODORS

Charges contained in a letter to the county supervisors from Fred H. Bixby, Long Beach, that the Dr. Ross Dog and Cat Food manufacturing plant to be located in the building of the Los Alamitos Sugar Factory will be a nuisance, through odors emanating from the plant were emphatically denied today by Dr. W. G. Ross, head of the factory.

Dr. Ross answered Bixby's objectionable odors from the place, he continued. Dr. Ross said today that there never will be an odor from the plant. The entire factory is equipped with steam-jacketed cooling equipment and through a vacuum process all odors from the cooking vats are drawn back into the furnaces and eliminated. Charges that effluents from the slaughter pens will be spread upon adjacent lands were met with the statement that all effluents will be handled through a trap system that will carry all waste material. The only waste material from the factory that will go into cesspools will be the water used in cooling the canned product after cooking, he explained.

Several residents of Los Alamitos, who have investigated the company's present plant at Norwalk state that they do not believe the operation of the plant will be offensive to residents of that community. They will oppose any plans to bar the dog food plant from operating, it is said.

JAPANESE LEADER RELATES BENEFITS OF CHRISTIANITY; SAYS "REDS" MENACE JAPAN

That the life of the Japanese people has been profoundly influenced by Christian principles and teachings during the past century was asserted by Soichi Saito, general secretary of the Tokio Y. M. C. A. and prominent Rotarian, speaking last night at the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A.

of a survey for the information of contractors and contract letting bodies and not to adopt it as the official wage scale of the organization.

Later in the evening the program was turned over to Past President Walter Sorenson, chairman of the Better Business committee, who called upon four speakers, William Tway, H. Adams, Thomas Moore and Walter Farris, for short talks. The speakers stressed the need for organization in the present economic situation and sounded a note of cheerfulness that indicated a belief that business is nearing the upturn.

Entertainment during the dinner was provided by Harry J. Twitchell, Harry Twitchell, Jr. and Philip Twitchell.

"My country was slow to believe that we could receive any moral or ethical help from the western world," he said. "We were willing to accept the material and mechanical benefits of your civilization, but our own religions seemed to us to be superior to any other in their moral teachings, and we were slow to give them up. But today, while there are probably only about 300,000 Christians in Japan, the principles taught by Jesus have made themselves felt in every part of our life. The Japanese Christian is esteemed as a man of honor and integrity, and the ideals of Christianity are affecting even the teachings of our native religions."

Battles Communism "The first introduction of Christianity into Japan was in a very early day, when some Nestorian Christians came to my country and preached. They left no permanent results. Many centuries later, the Roman Catholic missionaries came, and made converts. Then, during the past century, the missionaries from America and Europe came, bringing the modern message of the gospel, and this has changed the life of our nation."

"Christianity in Japan today faces the peril of that godless menace, communism, which is being taught by emissaries from Russia, and which is welcomed by many of the younger people, who are tired of the corruption and failures of the old parties and the old system, and who welcome anything that promises a change for the better. In China, there are several entire provinces which have become communized. In Manchuria, the movement is strong. It is Japan's danger. We still greatly need the cooperation of American Christians to help us hold against this menace."

Decries Bad Movies Saito spoke of the work done by the Y. M. C. A. in Japan, where the program is very much like that in America. He pointed out that by physical and educational activities, great good has been accomplished. Basketball and volleyball, introduced by the Y. M. C. A. have become popular games throughout Japan, while baseball is almost as much a national sport there as in America. The usual program of work based on the triangle of "spirit, mind and body" is carried on among the youth of Japan, with wonderful results, he said.

"Please do not send us your bad motion pictures," said the speaker, "for they give our people wrong ideas of civilization. We like the good pictures and we go to see them. They are helpful. The bad ones come, and we go to see them, and they are harmful. Our young people see the pictures of immorality and wickedness in your homes, and they get the idea that all American life is like that, and they think it is a part of western civilization. It is bad for us and it is bad publicity for America. Our government has rigid censorship rules, but even with that they cannot cut out all the bad pictures or the bad parts. Please keep the bad pictures in Hollywood and send us the good ones and it will be much better for all of us."

LA HABRA

LA HABRA, Aug. 2.—Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Erwin and family who have just returned from a two weeks' vacation at Sequoia National park, had as their dinner guests Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Erwin and two children, of Huntington Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Maxon Weide and baby and Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Weide and two daughters, Ethel Mae and June, are spending this week at Big Bear.

Mrs. C. T. Gaston of Kansas City, Missouri, arrived this week to be with her daughter Mrs. E. M. Jackson, who has been seriously ill at her home here. She was accompanied by her daughter, Shirley. Mrs. Jackson is reported to be much improved following a severe attack of pneumonia. Mrs. Gaston expects to remain for a visit with Mrs. Jackson and another daughter, Mrs. Thomas La Monte of La Habra Heights.

SENTENCED TO FOLSOM PRISON FOR SIX YEARS

Albert Cain, admitted narcotic addict and "three time loser" was sentenced this morning to six years in Folsom prison when he appeared before Superior Judge James L. Allen.

Cain, who was arrested several weeks ago in Orange, was charged with possession of narcotics when officers found a quantity of morphine concealed in his clothing.

Investigation of Cain's past revealed that he had served a term in the Arkansas state prison for burglary and two terms in the Texas prison on similar charges. Additional charges of the three prior convictions were placed against him.

This morning when he appeared for trial, Deputy District Attorney Leo Ellis asked dismissal of the first two charges of prior convictions and Cain pleaded guilty to possession of narcotics and the third prior conviction. Dismissal of the prior conviction counts saved Cain from a life sentence to Folsom as an habitual criminal.

EDDLEMAN IS OWNER COURTESY CAB LINE

C. F. Eddleman, former Santa Ana agent of a Los Angeles paper, is now the owner of the Courtesy Cab lines, instead of C. H. Eckles, Cab lines, as reported in error in a news story in The Register last night. Eddleman, who lives at 915 South Birch street, purchased the taxi line from Eckles on June 16. Eckles retains the Santa Ana Bus service, which he established here when the Pacific Electric discontinued bus service several years ago.

The difference in level between Lake Superior and tidewater is about 600 feet.

SHORTTRIDGE TO OPEN CAMPAIGN HERE THURSDAY

United States Senator Samuel Shortridge will be in Orange county tomorrow for a conference with his Southern California campaign manager C. C. Chapman, of Fullerton, and to fill a series of speaking engagements in the county.

He will arrive in Fullerton tomorrow morning and after his first address at 10 o'clock at the corner of Spadra and Commonwealth avenues will go to the Chapman ranch for a conference with his manager. Chapman will accompany him on the county tour. At noon the senator will speak in Santa Ana at the luncheon meeting of the Lions Club. An invitation has been extended to all other clubs to attend this meeting. He will return to Santa Ana after dinner in the evening to speak in Birch park at 9 o'clock, after the weekly band concert.

At 2 p. m. he will speak in the plaza at Orange and then go to Anaheim where he is scheduled to deliver an address in the Elks club. He will fill a speaking engagement at Huntington Beach where he is to be guest of honor at a dinner to be given in the Golden Bear cafe.

Court Notes

George E. Rogers arrested Monday night by Patrolman Joe Murillo, on a petty theft charge, was given a 20 day suspended jail sentence, in the city police court yesterday on a charge of vagrancy.

Only one speeding case appeared on the calendar at the Santa Ana police court yesterday. William P. Horner, of 412 South Malden street, Fullerton, pleaded guilty and was fined $8.

FARM PRICES BOOST LARGEST SINCE 1929

An advance of five points was registered in the index of the general level of prices of farm products for June 15 to July 15, according to the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics. This resulted from a sharp upturn in prices of hogs, cattle, eggs, and cotton, and of minor advances in five other farm commodities.

The July 15 farm price index, compiled by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, stood at 57 per cent of the pre-war average, the increase since June 15 having been the largest recorded in a month's time since July, 1929. Hog prices advanced about 50 per cent during the period; cattle were up 19 per cent; eggs gained 13 per cent, and the farm price of cotton was up 11 per cent. Prices of small grains declined.

The bureau points out that the index on July 15 was 22 points below that of a year ago, and less than one-half of the average of July indexes for the preceding five years, but that "there is some compensation in this somewhat discouraging picture" in that there were sharp declines in prices of commodities that farmers buy and in the wages of hired farm labor, during the past year. The index of prices paid by farmers dropped about 15 points from July, 1931, to July, 1932.

"PETTY GRAFTS" OF CONGRESS EXPECTED TO BE FULLY AIRED IN CAMPAIGNS THIS FALL

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—Most of the petty "graft" and the cheap little tricks which members of Congress employ to augment their salaries are going to get a full airing in this year's congressional campaigns.

They have been exposed more mercifully than ever before and the fellows who are out to get the seats of the present members already have begun to raise them as issues.

The practice of putting members of the family on the federal payroll as clerks, the collections of mileage allowances which are never spent, the economical practices of Senator Park Trammell who sleeps in his office, the junkets of congressional committees and the franking privilege have all been taken for a ride—just as if they hadn't always been practiced and as if they represented more than a tiny drop in the big bucket of federal expenditures.

Much Explaining Due
Some members will have an easy time explaining themselves, while others are likely to find it rather difficult. No one, for instance, is likely to have the nerve to criticize Speaker Garner for employing his efficient wife as his secretary.

There are many similar cases where relatives, some of whom were employed by members long before they came here, are rendering able, faithful service both to the members and their constituents. On the other hand, some rather tall stories will have to be told to explain the value of senatorial or congressional relatives who are on the payroll, but are notoriously absent from the offices in which they are supposed to work.

Then There's the Record
A nice point was raised at the very end of the session when the senate broke into a brief debate as to the propriety of printing political speeches in the Congressional Record, which costs $58 a page.

It's an old senate custom to insert political speeches such as those the cabinet members are delivering for Mr. Hoover and both houses let their members run more or less wild in printing speeches of their own which are never actually delivered, but which may be mailed out during the campaigns.

Copies of the latter, with the composition already paid for, are bought at cost—about $2.40 a thousand—and shipped free of charge. Moore, A. Cummings, George Wells, E. D. Boynton, M. B. Youel, Lloyd Shearer, Don Harwood and Dr. George A. Warner. Charles Collins, superintendent of agencies in the home office of the company in Boston, Mass., was present for the opening, and yesterday was most at luncheon in the Jonathan club to the executives of the new branch, Rolla Hays and his sons, W. E. Hays and Rolla Hays Jr., of Santa Ana, Raymond H. Bradstreet and Clarence W. Hudson, and their wives.

The Public Forum

Communications under this heading must be signed by the name of the writer. These communications express the opinions of the writers of them. The opinions may or may not be the opinions of The Register.

Editor Register, Sir:

We hear so much "talk" about there being more drinking these days than in the pre-Volstead days, or the "good old days." Let us turn over the pages of the Chicago Tribune (wet) and see what that paper says.

Quoting that paper of June 1, 1914: "A three months' survey shows that 14,000 women and girls frequented, every 24 hours, the back rooms of the saloons on Madison and North Clark street and Cottage Grove avenue."

Again quoting from the same paper, July 11, 1917, we read: "If the secret records of the brewing and distilling industries were ever brought to light, they would tell a story of social and political corruption unequalled in the annals of our history."

"If the veritable narrative of the American saloon were to be written, it would make the decadence of Rome look like an age of pristine beauty in comparison."

If these men have not made a practice of committing murder and arson, it is because these crimes did not seem immediately profitable.

"The liquor business has been the faithful ally of every vicious element in American life. It has protected criminals, has fostered the social evil and it has bribed politicians, jurists and legislators."

If you want the return of the above conditions, vote for the repeal of the Eighteenth amendment, for the adoption of the Eighteenth amendment has closed 177,790 saloons and 1700 legalized breweries and distilleries.

PAULINE AMES.
Editor Register:
I inserted an ad last week "House for sale. Easy Terms."

I didn't put any "For Sale" sign on the house. A man called me up and said he would like to see it. I closed the deal today, $750 cash and the balance on first mortgage.

Practically everything I sell or rent is through an advertisement in The Register. I find it is the most successful medium that I can use, and without an ad in The Register my prospects are few and far between. I think that my writing you this letter is just as much to the interest of the people who want to sell or rent their property as it is to yours.

Yours truly,
J. W. ESTES.

Relatives Meet After 42 Years

CYPRESS, Aug. 3.—A happy family reunion was held recently at the beach home of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Melvin. Late News From Orange And Nearby Towns

Council Moves To End Bankrupt Stock "Dumping"

ORDINANCE TO RESTRICT SALE OF GOODS HERE

ORANGE, Aug. 3.—Two ordinances which will go into effect in 30 days and were up for second reading were adopted by the Orange city council yesterday. The ordinances are designed to regulate the activities of transient merchants who come into the city to dispose of goods in a short period of time and also to prevent fraudulent sales from being staged.

The first ordinance, No. 335, provides for licensing business exhibitions and games and fixes the rates of licenses. This ordinance is an amendment to an ordinance, No. 192, passed May 26. The other ordinance, No. 336, is an entirely new measure and provides for the restriction of sales of fire damaged, water damaged, trustees, administrators, liquidation and mortgage sales to the exact amount of goods involved.

The ordinance requires that an inventory of the goods be given at the city hall and that no further addition to this amount of goods shall be made. A merchant staging such a sale will be required to pay a license of $10 for three months. After this time $10 a day is to be charged.

The new ordinance makes it necessary for a merchant to establish a business in Orange to put up a bond of $600 for a period of six months after which period he is to be considered a permanent merchant and the bond will be exonerated.

A provision was made that if a merchant begins a business in good faith and fails to make any application to the city council and he will be released from the obligation of continuing the bond, on council members being convinced of the sincerity of his motives in starting the business.

The measures were sponsored by the Orange Merchants Bureau and the organization was represented by Alfred Huhn and William Hagen. The representatives stated that a majority of the merchants of the city favored the measures which were designed to keep persons from coming to the city with stocks of goods establishing a business for a short period of time.

Council Allows Trade For Dog License

ORANGE, Aug. 3.—A little rat terrier appropriately named "Spike" received a dog license yesterday at the meeting of the city council when his master, D. E. Davis, 337 East Palmyra avenue, traded a carpenter license he had taken out and for which he had no use, for the dog license. "Spike" is a rat terrier. Davis said he had taken out the carpenter license expecting to fulfill a contract.

CITY COUNCIL APPROVES BOND ISSUE AT MEET

ORANGE, Aug. 3.—A resolution authorizing the issuance of improvement bonds for the North Olive street and the North Parker street sewer districts was adopted at the meeting of the city council yesterday. The bonds are to be five in number and are to be for $85.05 each. They are to be issued August 2, 1932, and the date of maturity of each is to be July 2 for each year they are to run.

On the Olive street improvement it was shown $425.31 remains unpaid in assessments, and on the Parker street $542.79 remains unpaid. This sum is to be divided in five bonds of equal amounts which will mature on July 2 of each year for five years.

H. F. Benecke, 154 South Shaffer street, said that he had been paying taxes on two cars for the past two years when he owned but one car, the other belonging to his son.

George O. Carlson applied for permission to tie to a water line at Bristol and Shaffer streets. The application was held until water users in the district shall come to an agreement on the matter, one of the users becoming responsible for all the water used.

WATER LEVELS IN CITY WELLS REPORTED HIGH

ORANGE, Aug. 3.—Water levels in the city wells are 22 inches higher this present August than they were in August, 1931, according to a report submitted to the city council here yesterday by W. J. Richardson, water superintendent. Water levels in August 1, 1931, were 199 feet, four inches and August 1, 1932, they were 201 feet, two inches. During the past month 54,289,806 gallons of water was used.

A motion was made to apply the salary of Paul E. Clark, amounting to $176 on his indebtedness to the city for funds misappropriated by the former official.

Permission was given for the reversion of the Earlham cemetery northwest of El Modena to acreage. The tract includes one and a quarter acres.

J. F. Lee applied for permission to establish a neighborhood grocery at his home on Palmyra and Orange street. He was asked to bring a signed petition to the council which meets August 10, the paper to be signed by residents of the district.

A petition signed by residents living in the neighborhood of Palm avenue and North Cambridge asked for stop signals at this intersection for the protection of school children. The petition was referred to the street committee, C. J. Hessel and A. H. Helm.

George Sherwood, city superintendent of schools, asked for the payment of the $500 which was given for the playgrounds and the amount was ordered paid.

The appointment of Miss Myrtle Shaffer, as city desk sergeant, was confirmed by the council and the resignation of Mrs. Sadie Trythall as desk sergeant was accepted.

F. E. Dale, building inspector, was granted two weeks vacation.

KREML Hair Tonic and Shampoo, McCoy Drug Stores, B'way and French at 4th, K-B Drug Stores, Main at 6th and B'way at 2nd. Do you, too, dread summer because of its trying effects on the hair? We hear this complaint constantly. But since KREML hair tonic and shampoo was given us by that great German scientist, summer with its inevitable exposure of the hair to sun, wind and water, users thereof no longer suffer this annoyance. Kreml positively will keep your permanent looking fresh and wavy if you'll use the tonic after being in the open, swimming, playing tennis, riding horseback, etc. You will find that the hair requires only about half as many shampoos when you are using Kreml regularly, in order to keep it soft and silky and the wave always in place. We strongly recommend the Kreml shampoo for making the hair lie in place immediately following a shampoo. This has been demonstrated thoroughly by persons having extremely fine, electrified hair, and who heretofore had to plan so carefully for a shampoo several days before going out. Kreml is one of the finest eradicators of dandruff we have ever discovered. It does the job thoroughly, if you give it a fair chance.

1 1/2 cups milk
3/4 cup sugar
3 egg yolks
Pinch salt
3/4 cup ground chocolate
1 tablespoon gelatin
4 tablespoons milk
1/2 pint whipping cream
Graham cracker pie shell.

Scald the milk. Combine sugar, yolks, salt and add to milk. Mix the chocolate with a little of the milk mixture and add to custard. Soak gelatin in 4 tablespoons milk. Cook custard until it coats the spoon. Add soaked gelatin. Allow to cool and set. Whip the cream and fold into jelled mixture. Pour into baked graham cracker pie shell and chill. Garnish with whipped cream if desired and sprinkle with chocolate.

BUYING TREND AND CUT RATES ARE DISCUSSED

BY W. M. CORY
Assistant Farm Adviser

The trend of buying at the present is with the idea of getting the article for the least amount. Price is paramount with little consideration given to the quality. However, quality, whether in a suit of clothes or a bottle of milk, represents the actual value. If quality is to be sacrificed for price, that of course is optional with the purchaser. However, in food products and in fact most of the things purchased, quality represents its food value or wearing qualities which is the true price basis of staple commodities.

In the production of milk, probably the most essential and most universally used of food products, prices to producers and distributors have been lowered commensurate with the articles which have to be brought to produce milk of the quality to which the public is entitled. According to the California Dairy Council, a quart of milk will provide 55 per cent of the daily food requirements of an adult. At its present price it can hardly be expected to obtain any other food source of equivalent food value at a lower price.

Quality Affected

However, owing to the trend of mind of the purchaser, even lower prices are solicited. If this becomes too insistent it is quite probable that lower prices will be granted. It can be done only with danger of sacrificing in quality. Milk distributors generally buy milk from the producer on the basis of its butterfat content. Lowering of prices results in a lowering of price paid the producer, narrowing of the distributor's operating margin and usually a lessening of the butterfat put out in the milk to the consumer.

Here again is a case of lowering the quality of the product which only goes to further prove that we only get what we pay for. Prices paid producers are now generally under the cost of production even with the lower feed prices.

Appeal to Consumers

This appeal is made to the consumers to question the advisability of patronizing or tolerating further price cutting of milk when quality is at stake.

Again from a purely selfish viewpoint the merchants and professional men in town have a responsibility in prohibiting such practices since this is a local industry supporting local trade.

Supply and demand will eventually bring about an adjustment. In bringing this about the pendulum swings beyond the point of equilibrium in either direction. In the case of whole milk at this particular time, supply and demand are very nearly at an equilibrium were it not for the trend of the public mind of buying at lower prices. Further lowering of the price will mean the elimination of some producers and the distribution to consumers of a lower fat content milk. Orange county has remained remarkably free from ruinous milk war prices and the consumer has been supplied with a quality product as enjoyed by few districts, as is substantiated by the recent surprise milk scoring contest conducted by the state. The continuance of this status will depend upon the public demand for quality in excess of the legal limits estimated by state law.

JESS HANSON RAISES WORLD FAMOUS FLOCKS

Not a "Gift", There's a Reason

Mr. J. A. Hanson, of Corvallis, Oregon, raises record-breaking pedigreed Leghorns. He is a NOPOO XX user and says—
"For several years we have been consistent feeders of cod liver oil and have used NOPOO (XX) in all of our chick and developing flocks for the past two years. Without question, we have had the best hatches and the most active, vigorous chicks since then of our twenty years' experience."

Mr. Hanson now tells about his World's Record Pen—

"For twenty years we have been developing a strain of Leghorns which have become known for their egg laying ability, vigor and size. To get the fullest response from their inheritance we feel that it is necessary to furnish all the necessary factors in their diet and cod liver oil plays an important part. Our World's Record Pen, 5880 eggs at Storrs (Conn.), in 1929, our many 3000-eggers and an entire flock of 1600 pullets with an average of 245 eggs last year, all get NOPOO (XX). Concentrated Vitamin D in their ration."

A special letter-size folder telling "What 15 Professors of Poultry Husbandry Say About Feeding Vitamin D" sent to anyone addressing a letter to NOPOO, 445 California St., San Francisco. No charge—postpaid. If you're not a poultryman show this ad to your neighbor who is.

HORNSBY DISMISSED AS CUBS' MANAGER

Record-Smashing Olympic Athletes Amaze Critics

SPRINTERS SET RECORD WHILE ONLY COASTING

By FRANK G. MENKE
(I. N. S. Sports Editor)

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 3.—(INS)—Another sweet mystery of life has been provoked by the amazing ease and awesome monotony with which the 1932 Olympic boys and girls have blotted out records which were ineffaceable for years. Zooming around in the ozone today are a set of questions, all linked together, offered with the hope that a logical and indisputable answer will come to explain the mad havoc that the athletes have made with the marks in the first three days of striving.

Those quizzes are like this:

What is the Answer?

"Were the former Olympic stars just a lot of padokas in comparison with the specimens of 1932?" "Are we gaining now on the greatest track and field stars the world has ever known?" "Or are the clocking boys friveling around a bit with their watches for the greater honor and glory and speed-busting benefit of those who are part and parcel of the tenth Olympiad?"

Back in A. D. 1904 Archie Hahn, of the U. S. A., one of the greatest sprinters the world ever gave on, hung up the Olympic record of 21 7/10 for the 200 meters. For 20 years it stood unbroken and unbeaten. Then Jackson Scholz, of the U. S. A., equalled it in 1924 and H. Koerning, the German, made it a triple tie in 1928.

Hahn Gave His Utmost

Hahn gave all that he had to make that mark. Scholz, a marvelous speedster, was out to the last ounce to do his 21 6/10 and the same thing goes for Koerning four years ago.

Cometh the Olympiad of 1932 and four men crack that mark within a 20-minute period and none was really trying.

Under the blazing sun of yesterday afternoon, which seemed to sap human vitality of its final essence, Ralph Metcalfe of the U. S. A., coasted home in 21 5/10, Eddie Tolan, of the U. S. A., eas-

OBSERVING the OLYMPICS

"What a bum a pair of shoes can make out of a man."

In slow, but good English, the great German middle distance star, Dr. Otto Peltzer, official holder of the world's 800-yard record, today lamented his finish in ninth and last place in the Olympic 800-meter classic.

"This hard track spread out my shoes until I couldn't wear them," the good doctor explained. "So, just before the race I borrowed a pair from a friend. They were worse, flopping around until I couldn't run fast enough to keep warm."

First of the Olympic simon pures to turn "pro" was Clifford Olsen, a heavyweight wrestler, of the University of Minnesota. Olsen thought he had been unfairly deprived of a place on the United States team. So today he signed a contract under the direction of Ray Steele, professional heavyweight champion of California.

Spectators are going to be royally backed by the time this international classic is over. The sun continues to beat down relentlessly in the stadium.

Field event contestants declared they had a hard time to concentrate with all the guns popping off in the stadium. Ellen Braumuller of Germany was just about to toss a discus when a gun went off starting a heat in the 200-meter run. She was so startled the discus tricked out only a few yards.

As the days pass, more officials begin to appear in the stadium enclosure. However, all records have been broken in this department, as in ordinary events there usually are more officials than contestants on the field.

Lengthening its lead over the National Night league also-ran to four full games, Anaheim's undefeated Valencia's humbled Olive's Packers, 7-5, at Olive last night.

Anaheim can now lose all of its remaining games and still win the second half of the split season.

Jim McNabb, second sacker, changed apparent defeat into glorious Anaheim victory by hitting a home run with the bases full in the eighth inning. Two were out at the time, and the score was 5-2 in Olive's favor. Just for good measure, Anaheim added another run off Rudy Heman in the ninth.

PEN HALLOWELL

Norwood Penrose Hallowell Jr., Harvard graduate and scion of an aristocratic New England family, is America's No. 1 hope in the 1500-meters, to be completed at Olympic stadium tomorrow. The slender easterner has everything—speed, stamina and courage—and is expected to extend to the limit Finland's favorite son, Harri Larvi, defending Olympic champion.

Ohio Water Better Than California's? See-Jack, George

PASADENA, Aug. 3.—(UP)—Ohio's representation in the Olympic Games today appeared on the verge of accomplishing miracles. David Neustadt, of Columbus, delegate to the convention of the junior chamber of commerce here, brought a 5-gallon jug of Columbus water.

"This is all that George Simpson and Jack Keller, former Ohio State stars, need," Neustadt said. "They have complained that California water isn't as good as Ohio water."

BELL WINS AGAIN, HOLDS JOINT LEAD

Keeping pace with undefeated Lewis Wetherell, City Champion Randolph Bell defeated George Randall, 6-2, 6-4, for his ninth successive victory in the Santa Ana city tennis championships. Bell and Wetherell are now favored to eventuate fight it out for local honors.

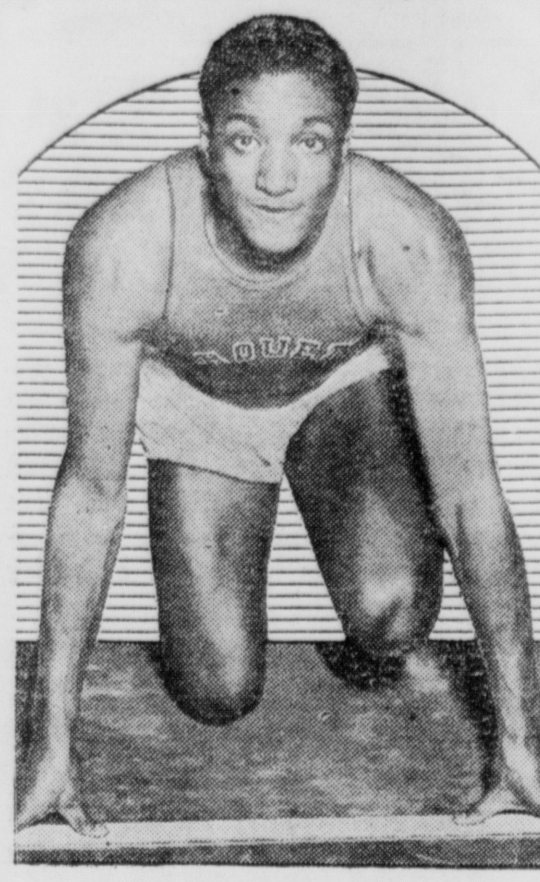

Class A—Park defeated West, 3-6, 6-3, 6-4; Cress d. Demers, 6-0, 6-2; Dixon d. Evans, default; Ranney d. Hafer, 6-0, 6-0; Class B—Carson Smith d. Brown, 6-0, 6-0; R. B. Willis d. Tolan nosed out Metcalfe by two inches in the 100 meters Monday, but Metcalfe, at his best over the longer route, was expected to win this afternoon.

GUS SHAVER TO CAPTAIN WEST FOOTBALL TEAM

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 3.—(UP)—Gus Shaver, All-American quarterback of the Trojans last season, will captain the U. S. C. Stanford-California team of seniors that will meet a similar group from Yale, Harvard and Princeton in the Olympic football game next Monday. Manager Phil Ellsworth of the western squad announced today.

Upon the suggestion of Glenn Warner, who was appointed to head the Western team by the coaching committee consisting of Chairman Howard Jones of Southern California, Warner, and Bill Ingram of California. In practice sessions, Shaver has shown the same hard-running form that made him one of the country's outstanding stars last fall. He is performing at fullback but is calling signals, carrying the ball on most of the plays and playing safety on defense.

Just as the eastern team, under the direction of Tad Jones, will have a hard time stopping Shaver, the western boys will find it tough to halt Eddie May, star Harvard back who has been proving the sensation of the Yale-Harvard-Princeton squad workouts. May, who is the light, shifty Mohler-type of back, scored on a 50-yard run behind the second team line in scrimmage this week, and when Tad Jones shifted him to the first team he went 70 yards through a broken field for a score on the opening play.

FENCING STARS VIE IN OLYMPIC FINALS

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 3.—(UP)—Fencing stars of Italy, Germany, France and the United States brought their nations into the lead today as they qualified for Olympic Games semi-finals to be held Thursday.

Three men were qualified for the Italian team, including Gioacchino Guaragno, sensational duelist who made a clean sweep of all his matches. Only Frauline Helene Mayer of Germany duplicated that feat yesterday.

Bitter rivals once, "Big Ben" Eastman and "Little Bill" Carr, above, are now teammates on the United States 400-meter team. They'll go to the post at Olympic Stadium tomorrow, running in trials, with the final scheduled Friday. This picture was taken at Olympic Village. Eastman and Carr are America's answer to Great Britain's Rampling and Stonely.

Italian Cyclists Capture Olympic Pursuit Laurels

PASADENA, Aug. 3.—(UP)—Italy's unrivaled pursuit team held a new and unmatched title today—4000 meter cycling champions of their fourth consecutive Olympiad.

In a desperately fought final match at Rose Bowl last night, the Italian quartet outraced the French team in the fast time of 4 minutes, 53 seconds. It brought the 1932 championship to Rome, as previous teams accounted for the titles in 1920, 1924 and 1928.

GARDEN GROVE 6-3 WINNER AT IRVINE

Garden Grove, first half titleholders, swung into undisputed possession of first place in the second half of the split Orange County Night league season today after beating Irvine, 6-2, at Irvine Monday night. Ray Hodgson outpitched Walt Jordan and also hit safely thrice, his ninth inning single clinching the game.

In another league tussle, Olive nosed out Huntington Beach, 10-9.

OLYMPIC CREWS TO ROW IN AFTERNOONS

To afford spectators literally "more racing for their money" and to speed up the programs of each afternoon's Olympic Games rowing program at Long Beach, the International Rowing federation has voted to abandon the tentative morning programs and confine all activities to the five afternoon sessions August 9 to 12.

The decision, which was adopted when it was discovered that the Long Beach course is wide enough to accommodate three or four shells abreast in every race, will afford spectators a chance to witness more spirited and thrilling races between the international crews.

Officials pointed out that crew enthusiasts may bring picnic lunches to the banks of the course and spend the afternoon in the sunshine while watching the races, adults, 50 cents and children 25 cents.

For the first time in 18 years, Rogers Hornsby is out of a baseball job. He resigned yesterday as manager of Chicago's Cubs. His place was taken by Charley Grimm, colorful first baseman.

FIVE RECORDS SHATTERED BY OLYMPIC AGES

BY STUART CAMERON
(United Press Sports Editor)

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 3.—(UP)—Olympic and world records were shattered all over the place today as contestants in the International tests began the fourth day of track and field events.

Five new performances in record marks were added yesterday to those of the day before. Unless there is a sudden lull the 10th modern renewal of the ancient sports will set a new high total for record shattering.

Tuesday's show contained record or record-equaling performances in 200 meter dash, 500-meter run, 110 meter hurdles, women's discus and women's 100 meter dash.

The 200-meter semi-final and finals will crowd the thrills. This competition, past its first and second stages, today contained one of the most truly international fields of any of the events.

The big three of the United States came through the first tests of the 200 in more than creditable style. Eddie Tolan of Detroit and Ralph Metcalfe of Marquette, both Negroes, won their second trial heats in record figures, while George Simpson of Ohio was second to Luti of Argentina, in another record-breaking finish. Luti is highly dangerous as is Jonath of Germany, who equalled Luti's new record time of 21.4 in winning the fourth heat of the second trials after Metcalfe had set a mark of 21.5, equalled by Tolan shortly after.

Ed Gordon, another American Negro, gave the United States first place in the broad jump with a leap of 25 feet, 3.4 inch. Redd of the U. S. was second, at 24.11-1.2 and Nambu of Japan third.

Yesterday's big hero probably was Tom Hampson of Great Britain, new Olympic 800-meter champion. British sports experts had warned that Hampson would be a dangerous foreman. He had to fight from back in fourth or fifth position on the last half lap to nose out Alex Wilson of Canada, leaving Phil Edwards, also of Canada, and the early pace setter, with third honors. Hampson was caught in new record time of 1:49.8.

It was George Saling of Iowa who finally held the 110 meter hurdles record. He made the dis-

CARNERA DECISIONS BIRKIE IN GOTHAM

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—(UP)—Primo Carnera, Italian heavyweight, won a 10-round decision over Hans Birkie of Oakland, Cal., last night at Queensboro stadium. The huge Italian displayed little more than a good left hand in actual fighting.

SELECT GRIMM TO PILOT CLUB REST OF YEAR

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
(INS Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—(INS)—Rogers Hornsby, stormy petrel of baseball who in his time has usurped his share of managerial jobs, was himself supplanted today by another man, Charley Grimm, as manager of the Chicago Cubs.

Announcement to that effect was made on the arrival of the team in Philadelphia late last night but this was largely an afterthought. The climax of two months of bickering between Hornsby and President William Veeck was reached here yesterday when the Cubs lost to the Brooklyn club through doubles by "Hack" Wilson and Danny Taylor, former Cubs, in the eighth inning. This, it is said, precipitated Hornsby's dismissal.

The hits in question were made against Warnecke, young star of the pitching staff, but they say that Hornsby has been using the old McGraw system of pitching for his pitchers, Warnecke in particular, and that Veeck felt he had reached his limit of endurance when the ball game was lost.

Veeck Admired McCarthy
He also has been at odds with Hornsby over the selection of players, Veeck having a great fondness for Barton and Moore, young outfielders, and Hornsby having none.

It is intimated, too, that the club president has never been entirely happy over the dismissal of Joe McCarthy from the management and the elevation of Hornsby some two years ago, a move initiated by the late William Wrigley. Since Mr. Wrigley's death, Veeck has been almost supreme in the councils of the Chicago club.

His action last night was abrupt and to the point. He first had a conference with Hornsby behind closed doors. Then newspapermen with the club were called in and informed that Hornsby had decided to resign "for the good of the club." His contract, one of the biggest in baseball, will expire December 31 of this year and he will be paid in full.

Whether Grimm, the team's first baseman, will remain as manager next year depends a great deal on the showing of the club for the remainder of the season. The Cubs' defeat yesterday, while the Pirates were losing their fourth straight, left them five games behind the league leaders.

Hornsby Through?
Hornsby is practically through as an active player and perhaps as a manager, too. He has had several teams under his charge but only one success, the world champion Cardinals of 1926. This was his first managerial venture.

Supposedly the toast of the town after bringing St. Louis its first championship, Hornsby was traded overnight to the New York Giants before the following season began. This was understood to have been the culmination of a series of salary disputes with Sam Breadon but when, as suddenly, Hornsby was transferred from New York to Boston, few knew the answer and none were bold enough to make it public. His new boss at that time was Jack Slater but the relation of employer and assistant didn't long prevail. Within a matter of six weeks, Hornsby was named manager.

Joined Cubs in 1928
His success was neither immediate nor lasting, so at the close of the 1928 season he was back in the ranks again as an ordinary player with the Cubs but not for long. The club won under McCarthy in 1929 but was beaten by the Athletics in the world's series and finished second in the National league the

PASTOR FETED AT FAREWELL PARTY MONDAY

BUENA PARK, Aug. 3.—A farewell party in honor of Rev. and Mrs. W. L. Newman was held at the Congregational church Monday evening with each organization of the church represented. Mrs. Eleanor Jones announced the program, which was opened by the Texas Four quartet, composed of Mrs. and Mrs. B. L. Willaford and sons Elmer and B. L. Willaford Jr. The quartet represented the Ladies Aid. Mrs. A. E. Rayburn accompanied them.

The Welcome Bible class then put on an interesting skit called "Furnishing a House" directed by Mrs. Clara Harmon, teacher of the class. Mrs. Hattie Allen, Mrs. N. O. Thornton, Mrs. A. E. Rayburn, Mrs. L. A. Sophia, Mrs. C. Fox, Mrs. George Trapp, Mrs. E. Drum, Mrs. Martha Root, Mrs. Clara Harmon and children, Barbara Drum, Maralyn and Ruth Fox and Russell Harmon taking parts of "furniture." When all had been arranged Rev. and Mrs. Newman were called to the stage to receive their opinion and were presented with a box of linen towels from the class.

Miss Lillian Neal and Ruth Bastady sang as a duet, "The Little Old Church in the Valley." Mrs. Rayburn accompanied, representing the Senior Christian Endeavor. Mrs. Bacon instituted a race between Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Sullivan in cutting paper. Representing the Missionary society, Mrs. Fred Law, president of the Ladies Aid and J. F. Wags, president of the brotherhood had a close race in which they prepared to travel. This was contributed by the Ladies Aid. The Love and Service Bible class gave an art gallery exhibition. This was followed by a pantomime contest. The Men's Brotherhood presented the male quartet composed of A. E. Rayburn, Carl and Eddie Bastady and Lester Schofield.

After the program refreshments of punch and cake were served. Best wishes were given by all to the pastor and his wife in their new fields of endeavor.

CHAMBER DIRECTORS RETURN $100 CHECK

SAN CLEMENTE, Aug. 2.—The board of directors of the San Clemente Chamber of Commerce, at its meeting yesterday, voted to return to the Solano Woman's club a check for $100 which the club organization had received from the club when Mrs. Emma Bennett was president. Miss Emma J. Oshener, secretary and Mrs. Arthur E. Adair, treasurer.

The club had devoted the money to the chamber for civic work in the city. Recently at another meeting the club rescinded its action and elected new officers, making Mrs. E. R. Bartlett, secretary. Mrs. Bartlett had written the chamber of commerce asking that body to send the $100 check back to the Solano club. Mrs. Bartlett had asked Dan Mulhern, president, to return the check but he refused to take action until authorized by the board yesterday.

NEWPORT WEDDING ANNOUNCED TODAY

NEWPORT BEACH, Aug. 3.—It was made known today among friends of Wayne L. Gross and Luella Archer Gross that they were quietly married several days ago at Alhambra. The young people, who are at present making their home in Balboa, are quite well known among the young people of the beach towns. Mr. Gross being at this time employed at the Rendezvous Ballroom here.

Mrs. Gross was formerly employed by the Alhambra Post Advocate in their offices at Alhambra where she resided with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Archer. Mr. Gross formerly lived in Santa Ana where he graduated from the Santa Ana high school last June and Mrs. Gross graduated from the Alhambra high school at the same time.

Buena Park Boy Scouts In Meet

BUENA PARK, Aug. 3.—Boy Scouts with their leader, Charles Shilkey, enjoyed an instructive open air meeting in Emery grove recently. A number of the boys took their Star test, passing and attaining their first class rank. Reports were made by the boys on their star at camp Rokili and two of the boys won membership in the Geronimo club. They were Charles Johnson and Calvin McNear the only two to "win" the honor out of 15 boys. The next meeting will be held in the Emery grove and will be in charge of the boys themselves. It was stated.

ANNUAL PICNIC
The annual Sunday school picnic of the Alhambra Friends church will be held at Irvine park, Thursday, August 4.

Athletes from Italy Are Entertained

SAN CLEMENTE, Aug. 3.—Maestri Giuseppe Margatelli, of the Italian fencing team, and Lieutenant Colonel Renato Anselmi, a star on the squad, were guests of A. Travaglini and Tony Travaglini at a dinner at the Travaglini cafe, San Clemente. On Thursday Tony Travaglini will take the two men on a tour of Southern California. He will be the athletes' guest at Los Angeles this evening. It is possible, says Tony, that the whole Italian delegation may be guests of the Travaglinis at San Clemente before they return to their homeland.

ENDORSE MOVE TO GET COUNTY GAS TAX MONEY

FULLERTON, Aug. 3.—City councilmen unanimously endorsed the resolution of the committee comprised of representatives of 10 of Orange county's 13 incorporated cities asking for 33 1/3 per cent of the county proportion of the state motor vehicle fuel, vehicle and gross transportation receipts tax for use within city limits and a reduction of the 40-cent road tax to 10 cents for unincorporated districts at the regular meeting last night.

Raymond Thompson, representing Albert Launer, city attorney, presented the resolution, which was endorsed by all representatives of cities except La Habra. After it has been presented to all city government officials it will be presented to the supervisors. The park superintendent, Harry Byrum, and the park committee were authorized to act in getting materials and have a number of new tables made for Hillcrest park to care for the added picnic crowds that frequent the picnic grounds.

Complaints of citizens on Jacaranda street on danger from flood water in the barranca undermining the property, presented in petition form and asking an investigation, were received, and the street committee, with the engineer, are to investigate and bring recommendations for rectifying the trouble at the next session.

Councilman William Potter suggested that two firemen be given position of assistant chief to be in charge when Chief Roy Davis has his two shifts a day off duty, those men to act for the chief in case of emergency until he arrives. In connection with the report of the fire insurance underwriters, it was shown that Fullerton pays 84 cents a year per capita for fire loss. The average in the United States is $4.78 a year per capita. The financial report for 1931, submitted by the auditors, was distributed for perusal. Announcement was made today that the assessed valuation of Fullerton property is $11,500,000, about 10 per cent less than last year.

Grover Walters reported that the fuses of the outfall sewer plant were stolen July 8. They were new and valued at about $3.75 each. Councilmen suggested he consider having the windows arranged that people would not get into the building.

FISHERMANS' GROUP WILL MEET TONIGHT

NEWPORT BEACH, Aug. 3.—The Newport Beach Fishermen's Association will meet with city attorney Roland Thompson tonight at 7:30 o'clock to make some amendments in their charter so that they can go ahead and complete the organization.

The charter has been sent to the secretary of state but because of some minor irregularities has not been accepted. The association at a previous meeting amended their constitution so that it would include all fishermen of Orange county.

As soon as these minor difficulties have been ironed out around 100 Orange county fishermen will be ready to join the organization, according to a statement made today by F. D. Robertson, chairman of the board of directors. Ninety percent of the membership has already been canvassed.

Spanish Village Voters Total 341

SAN CLEMENTE, Aug. 3.—With the registration books for the primary election on August 30 closed, Thomas Murphree Jr., registrar, announces that 341 San Clemente citizens have the right to cast ballots. Murphree Jr. after check with Joe Backs, county clerk, announces the following classification of voters: Republican, 230; Democratic, 108, and declining to state, three. Registration for the November election will be on September 29, according to Murphree Jr.

NEWPORT HOUSE IS ROBBED BY THIEVES

NEWPORT BEACH, Aug. 3.—Miss Elsie Stenbaugh and Miss Minnie G. Seelman, both of Los Angeles, who are at present living in a cottage here at the corner of Bay and Cypress streets, on coming home last night at 10:30 found the cottage open and that the inside had been ransacked and purses containing cash to the amount of $19, an Eastman kodak and case, and a pair of gold-rimmed glasses were missing.

The burglars had made entrance at the front door, using a pen key, and had gone out at the back way. No trace has been found of them, the only available clue being that Mr. Chance, of the Chance cottages nearby had seen two suspicious characters in the neighborhood earlier in the evening.

Couple at Garden Grove Entertain

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Wakeham entertained their Saturday evening bridge club at their home on Magnolia avenue.

After a series of bridge games first prizes were awarded to Mrs. A. F. Kearns and R. R. Rossetol while Mrs. Harry Meyer and A. F. Kearns were cooped.

Dainty refreshments were served to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Meyer, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Rossetol, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Kearns and Mr. and Mrs. Wakeham.

The club will meet next month with Mr. and Mrs. Rossetol.

Birthday Honored With Dinner Party

The birthday anniversary of Mrs. Jesse Perkins was celebrated with a 6 o'clock dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lafe Ross on Russell street, Sunday evening.

Mrs. Ralph Broady Feted on Birthday

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Broady entertained with a 7 o'clock dinner recently in honor of their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Ralph Broady, on her birthday anniversary. A yellow color scheme was carried out in the table decorations with a large birthday cake decorated with candles as a centerpiece.

Covers were placed for Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Broady and two children, the Rev. and Mrs. C. N. Jones, Miss Jennie Hoover, Ralph Schroeder, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil A. Shaekeford and Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Broady.

Key Ring Is Swallowed By Small Girl

BUENA PARK, Aug. 3.—Lily Joyce Gage, six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Gage, of North Homewood avenue, suffered a rather painful accident when a key ring which she held in her mouth was swallowed as a result of the chair tipping, in which she was seated. Three X-ray pictures taken show that the ring has passed to the stomach and it is believed that there will be no further danger.

PROTEST MADE ON COLLAPSE OF PRORATION

PLACENTIA, Aug. 3.—A decided reaction against the termination of the prorate program for marketing citrus fruit was taken at Placentia Chamber of Commerce meeting yesterday noon when directors voted to have a resolution of protest framed and sent to those interested in the marketing situation.

The action followed a motion by Louis Jacobsen with a second by E. J. Menard. President A. S. Bradford appointed a committee including Harry O. Easton, Jacobsen, LeRoy Lyon and L. T. Allred to frame the resolution.

Included in the discussion on the prorate termination, Easton reported it means a loss of something like two million dollars to Orange county growers and that it is working a disadvantage to all growers and marketers of citrus fruit.

Le Roy Lyon, speaking on the termination of the prorate agreement, said no reasons were given for withdrawing by Mutual Orange Distributors, who discontinued to prorate fruit except by letter of officials, and that three of those reasons were:

First, those houses withdrawing, that had shipped 25 or 30 cars in excess of their allotment, could not have effected the price of fruit.

Second, they objected to being penalized for shipping more than their quota, and having that deducted the following week, and Third, the reason the advance in price was decided the first week of the prorate was that M. O. D. houses had taken off about 30 cars of fruit from the market to enter the plan.

Mr. Lyon drew attention that the first reason, that twenty or thirty cars a week made no difference, does not coincide with the third reason, that those very houses felt responsible for the rise in price in taking off several cars.

Weston Smith of Fullerton said that the growers of the houses that have broken the prorate agreement are heavily in favor of the prorate program and that the difficulty lies with the officials of the company.

Other speaking in favor of prorating fruit shipments were Ed Backs, E. J. Menard, R. D. Flaherty, and Jacobsen.

William Schumacher, incumbent supervisor of third district, running for re-election, talked a few moments on his stand on taxation, declaring that the supervisors who have the power of fixing but 11 percent of the taxes, are making every effort to cut theirs, and suggested that all other tax fixing bodies do the same. He said the supervisors did not take any action on the prorate agreement termination, but asked their attorney to draw up a statement for them to peruse and consider.

T. E. Pickrell, secretary of the chamber, announced the county planning committee meeting at Santa Ana Friday, where a special committee is to consider names of streets and highways to avoid duplication.

William Bielefeldt reported on the trip of the National Editorial association through Orange county.

John C. Tuffree reported on the associated Chamber of Commerce meeting, and also declared that one of the most vital considerations in the coming election is to consider men who will protect Orange county water rights. Tuffree, with Ralph McFadden, Tuffree representing the Anaheim union water company and McFadden the Farm Bureau, are Placentia members of the special water committee of the associated chambers.

UNEMPLOYED OF COSTA MESA IN REGULAR MEET

COSTA MESA, Aug. 3.—Fourteen new active and two honorary members were added to the membership of the Costa Mesa Unemployed association at their meeting held in the local grammar school auditorium last night, membership now totals 59. Gird Logsdon, chairman of the solicitation committee, reported the former bank building owned by Carl Spencer, as future headquarters of the association, and a stucco building in the rear of the Lewis market, given by C. J. Lewis for the use of the association. This will be used for canning purposes. Ten oil stoves and several gas plates have been donated since organization Monday night.

The following committee chairmen were appointed by the association chairman, L. D. McKenney, and other members of the committee elected, as follows: Grievance committee—Ralph Williams, W. F. Holt, Mrs. Gird Logsdon, D. R. Hannon and Mrs. L. D. McKenney; finance—Joe Clark, chairman, J. E. Williams, and Clarence Morris; investigation—Barton Withall, chairman, V. I. Cook and Mrs. Moying Whitney; welfare—Lee Joiner, chairman; Leo Daniels, Charles Kesel, Henry Goetsch and O. B. Chambers; employment—H. F. Chapman, chairman, Mel Mitchell, and W. I. Snook; solicitation, Gird Logsdon, chairman; S. E. Armstrong, Bernie Bailey, Lee Belding and Sylvester Rutledge.

Holt and Whitaker of the Newport Beach association reported the progress of their group, stating that 200 quarts of fruit have been canned since the association was organized five weeks ago, also three tons of fish have been distributed.

Each Friday, two men from the local association are entitled to fish from the barge, and each third Friday, two men are to be given the privilege of fishing from the live bait boat, the fish to be distributed among the members.

CLASSIC MUSIC IS SLATED FOR PARK PROGRAM

ANAHEIM, Aug. 3.—With one night devoted each season to a program of classical music this Thursday's night summer concert program will include vocal, piano and dance selections of such nature and will begin at 8 o'clock at the city park amphitheater.

Constituting the "Three Valkyries" are Nell Gothold, soprano, Ruth Howell, soprano, Ruth Terry Keeschig, contralto. Norman Wright will accompany at the piano for the trio and Elizabeth Garrett will be the concert dancer with Vera Gay at the piano accompanying her.

The program, as announced this morning by Walker Bigham, is subject to change but tentatively it will include: the trio singing, "Rhein Maiden's Song" (Dee Rheingold) by Wagner, "Si Me Vers Avenir" by Bohn, "Orientale" by Cui and "Along Our River" by Schubert-Wolfe from "Moment's Musicals."

Elizabeth Garrett will follow with a dance of "Moods" by Chopin and Ruth Howell will sing, as a solo, "In Quelle Trine Morbide" by Puccini. "Spartan Melody" by Tschalowsky will be danced by Elizabeth Garrett as the fourth number.

In the fifth group the trio will sing, "Rein" by Curran-Dela, "Ashes of Roses" by Woodman, "The Moon Goes Drifting" by Grunn-Stebbins and "Greetings to Spring" from the "Blue Danube" by Strauss.

Elizabeth Garrett will dance "An Aspid of Angler" by Eastwood-Lane and Ruth Terry Keeschig will sing, "O Don Fatale" by Verdi.

Depicting the depressed by the ever-courageous spirit of the Polish race Elizabeth Garrett will dance, "Kulawick" by Joniawski. Nelle Gothold will follow this number by singing, "Dich Teure Halle" by Wagner and will give as a last dance interpretation, "The Amazon" by Schubert.

The trio will conclude the program by singing, "A Snow Legend" by J. Clokey, "Walking to the Moon" by Roger Clerbois, "Allah's Holiday" by Primi and "Wings of the Morning" by Alice Wiley.

AL SMITH ATTACKED IN KIWANIS SPEECH

ANAHEIM, Aug. 3.—Rounding out a discussion of the recent political party conventions the Kiwanis members yesterday noon heard the Democratic convention described by S. W. McCulloch, prominent Placentia rancher and alternate delegate to the convention. A week ago the Republican convention was described by Dr. W. Dexter of Whittier.

McCulloch quoted from several nomination speeches and flayed Alfred E. Smith for his lack of sportsmanship when the California delegation swung to Roosevelt. In regard to the prohibition question he said, "The Democrats floated into the convention and dropped anchor." He termed both parties "rafts" taken over by the wet elements.

Anaheim Police News

ANAHEIM, Aug. 3.—Peace and quiet reigned yesterday and last night in the police department, recorder's court and the Anaheim Justice court.

Carl Neff's hearing on a charge of forgery was postponed until August 5 at nine o'clock in the recorder's court, according to Judge Frank Tausch and aside from that brief item there were no other cases in the court.

There was no activity in the Anaheim Justice court and the police department did not receive a single call from 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon through eight o'clock this morning. Only small items of stray dogs found their way onto the police bulletin for yesterday.

WESTMINSTER

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Roberts, of Los Angeles, and Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Penhall, of Merrill, Ore., were recent dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Penhall.

John Pope and Miss Florence Smith, of Talbert, were recent evening guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Watson.

Mrs. William Hannagan and daughter motored to Covina to take her aunt, Mrs. Mary Smith, who has been her house guest, to the home of her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Skinner fished all day Friday from the Newport barge and in the evening Skinner transferred to the Huntington Beach barge for the night fishing.

Frank Skinner has left again for the Santa Marguerita Ranch to complete the last ten days of the threshing with a combined harvester of which he is in charge.

Mrs. Marie Falcke, deputy district president of the local Rebekah district and her husband, Mrs. May Mansperger attended an officer's meeting at the Rebekah lodge rooms in Orange, Friday evening. A reception given in their honor was a pleasant surprise for the local officers.

RELIEF CORPS DELEGATES TO PLANNING FOR Y. L. I. PARLEY BUSY SEASON MAKE REPORTS

ANAHEIM, Aug. 3.—Several interesting events have been planned for the near future by the members of the A. B. Paul Women's Relief corps and several entertaining invitations have been accepted to visit other units, it was revealed today following the meeting held at the I. O. O. F. hall with the president, Mrs. Bessie Fitzpatrick, presiding.

On August 9 a silver tea will be given at the home of Mrs. Mary Mitchell on South Los Angeles street. Mrs. Maude English will be chairman of the entertainment and Mrs. Mitchell will be chairman of the refreshments.

At the next meeting, August 16, the corps will entertain the department president, Mrs. Etta Johnston, who will pay her official visit to this corps along with the department inspector, Mrs. Eva Christian and other department officers. A luncheon will be served at the noon hour in honor of the guests. Mrs. Mitchell will be chairman of the dinner, Mrs. Maude English, chairman of the dining room and Mrs. Frances Morey chairman of the ticket selling.

Members received an invitation to attend a reception in honor of the department officers at the Compton corps on August 12 and to attend a similar affair on August 13 at the Riverside unit.

ANAHEIM, Aug. 3.—Today presidents of all organizations and societies in Anaheim are being urged to send a representative to an open meeting being held in the city hall Friday night at 7:30 o'clock, where facts about the work of the Tubercular Children's society, located above Orange county park, will be heard and the organization will be urged to take some steps toward assisting financially, according to Secretary George L. Reid of the Chamber of Commerce.

K. O. Baker of Los Angeles, member of the Community Chest, will speak to those present on the importance of this work and the society that has been organized for the past eight years and that has perfected a cure for more than 500 children from Orange county during that time.

R. W. Balch, ardent supporter of the society, stated this morning that 45 children can be accommodated at the outdoor school hospital, but that only 27 are there at the present time. It costs $500 for each child per year and the cure takes from six months to a year. The county health officer determines which children should be sent to the school.

party, commemorating the founding of Anaheim, will be given in September with those members who were born in Anaheim forming the committee of arrangements. The program committee under the direction of Marie Robertson, chairman, will have charge of the second meeting in September.

Near the end of the month a party will be given at the home of Mrs. Mayne McDonald. Details will be announced later.

Almquist Talks To the Women of Santa Ana and Orange County

I want every woman reader of the Santa Ana Register to read carefully every word of this advertisement. The time has now come when we must face the facts and look them squarely in the face.

This year, and particularly this summer has been the worst ever experienced by the merchants of this country. The season has been bad from a climatic condition and the depression still continues. Stocks of merchandise are not moving.

We cannot afford to carry our summer stock in to the Fall. We have therefore decided that we must take a drastic loss and we are prepared to do so immediately. We have re-priced every summer garment in our store and have absolutely disregarded costs. This is the positive truth and we ask you to come and see for yourself. If you have denied yourself new Summer clothes on account of the prices being too high, this will be your chance to get quality garments at less than manufacturers' cost. Festival Of Arts At Laguna Expected To Attract Many

ARRANGE FINE PROGRAMS FOR AUGUST 13-20

The Festival of the Arts which will take place at Laguna Beach from August 13 to August 20 will provide a week of unusual and picturesque events. Coming at a time when thousands of visitors from all parts of the nation and the world are in Southern California, it is expected that the events scheduled for these dates will be largely attended.

An old world atmosphere will prevail at the opening of the fiesta which will be the Marche aux Croutes or the Market of the Crusts. This will be staged in El Paseo at the corner of Laguna avenue. A street market, Punch and Judy shows, puppet shows, strolling musicians and pantomimes are to be included in the event. The evening will be known as the Jeweled Night and a public reception is to be given at the Laguna Beach Art gallery at 8 p. m.

Movie Stars

On Sunday, August 14, a tea will be given in honor of motion picture stars at El Paseo from 4 p. m. to 6 p. m. The affair will be under the auspices of picture artists residing at Laguna Beach. A concert will also be given in the afternoon which will be sponsored by the Music Lovers Club. In the evening "Robin Hood" is to be given in the Fairy Woods. The spectacle is a version of the romantic play by Owen Davis and it is to be directed by Wayne Moore.

Monday, August 16, art exhibits will be opened to the public at 11 a. m. The Laguna Beach Art Gallery and the Community club will be of especial interest to visitors. The Progressive painters exhibit will be seen at the Mad Hatter, the Olympic at the Hotel Laguna; the Kleitsch Memorial at the Kleitsch gallery; arts and crafts at the Pomona College Marine laboratory; city planning and model homes and gardens exhibit at the Chamber of Commerce, and theater crafts at the Little Art Theater. "Robin Hood" will be given again in the evening.

On August 16 there is to be a tour of artists studios and a visit to the theater arts and crafts which will begin at 11 a. m. In the evening there is to be a tea at the Community club.

On August 17 at 2 p. m. the parade of famous horsemen of the world is to be staged on coast boulevards and downtown streets. This event will be followed by equestrian games near the Blue Goose ranch where prizes will be awarded. In the evening at 8:15 o'clock, the play, "The Adding Machine" by Elmer Rice will be given under the direction of George Dunham and Sam Pierce at the Community playhouse.

A tour of Laguna Beach gardens will be made on August 18 and the affair is under the auspices of the Laguna Beach Garden club. The start will be made from the Hotel Laguna at 2 p. m. Transportation is to be furnished by the Realty board. Miss Anna B. Mason and Mrs. R. L. McCrea will conduct the tour. The garden of Mrs. W. B. Palmer, the canyon garden of Charles Snyder, hillside gardens as found at the homes of J. Royster

Helm, Hell Rider and Mrs. R. L. McCrea and an informal home garden planned by Miss Mason. Bowling on the green at the Laguna Beach Bowling club at Heister park will follow. The evening event for this day will be the costume ball at the Cabrillo ballroom with Mrs. Betty Arden as general chairman.

Stage Craft
A reception and conference of Little Theater directors and managers with a demonstration of stage craft will take place at 11 a. m. August 19, continuing through the afternoon. Two plays are to be given in the evening one at 7 o'clock, "Davy Jones' Locker," is to be presented on the beach at the foot of Pearl street and will be directed by Wayne Moore and the other "Fata Morgana" by Ernest Vajda, will be given at the Community Playhouse and will be directed by Ralph Herman. The time set for the latter is 8:30 p. m. The fiesta closes August 20 with five one-act plays for children at the Community Playhouse at 2:30 p. m. They are to be directed by Ralph Herman. The two plays given August 19 will be repeated at the same times and places on the closing night.

OFFICIAL OF LEAGUE CALLS FOR REDUCTION

After nearly three years of depression, the voters and taxpayers of Orange county are thoroughly aroused to the necessity of tax reductions and are doing more thinking about the operation of governmental units than ever before, according to a statement issued today by Wayne Gobie, of Santa Ana, secretary of the Orange County Civic League.

The statement said: "When times were good and everybody was making money, they were content to elect public officials and forget about them, except when particular groups wanted expenditures made. Bonds were voted everywhere. Assessed valuations increased by leaps and bounds, and the tax rates remained the same, so that larger amounts each year were given to the tax-spending boards to handle.

"But now times have changed, and the public is insisting upon public retrenchments in line with their own reduced incomes and expenditures. It is not a case of choice, but of necessity, to prevent many more homes being sold to the state or foreclosed for non-payment of taxes.

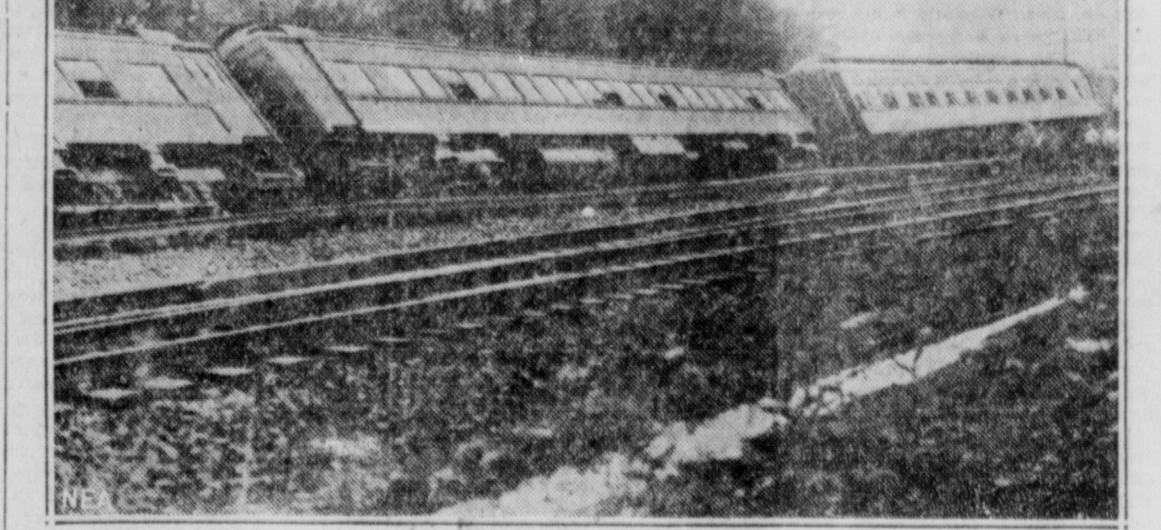

"Tax delinquencies have doubled the past year, and the prediction is freely made that unless things change materially, the delinquency next year will reach 25 per cent in this county, as it has already done in other localities.

"We of the Civic league claim it is better to reduce all taxes 25 per cent, so they can be paid, rather than have a 25 per cent delinquency and force the loss of 25 per cent of the property.

"We are happy that the Farm Bureau and Associated Chambers of Commerce have added their voice to the Civic league program which we have been carrying on for the past two years, and hope that speedy relief may be afforded. After all the talk, there should now be action."

REVERSES USUAL PROCEDURE

When an automobile wrecks a train—that's news! The cars you see here, part of an express train running out of Williamsport, Pa., were toppled from the rails when the locomotive struck an auto abandoned on a grade crossing. A warning signal allowed the train to slacken its speed so that only three persons were slightly injured in the resulting wreck.

SUGGESTS GARDEN PLOTS ON IDLE LAND AS METHOD FOR AIDING NEEDY UNEMPLOYED

"Back to the soil! That's where salvation lies," were the words today of J. A. Vye, of Fullerton, formerly of the agricultural department of the University of Minnesota, in discussing present conditions and giving concrete illustrations of what he meant by this statement in telling of the accomplishment of a Fullerton family in raising food products on two vacant lots.

"The remedy for unemployment is good to see the crops growing on two lots at the corner of Wilshire and Berkeley avenue, planted and tilled by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Fisher and family. Mr. Fisher looks to no one for assistance although he has eight children. Five of them, ranging in age from six to fifteen, help in the garden. Mr. Fisher came here from Indiana about four years ago. He had been a farmer. He knows how to farm. He has a car and sells insecticides to ranchers. He spurned the offer of county work on roads 10 miles away. He created work right near home.

"The use of the lots was donated. The plowing, 10 inches deep, cost $5.00. Mr. Fisher and the boys pulverized the ground with rakes. He used fish meal and sulphate of ammonia for fertilizer, costing $3.75. Already he has paid $18 for water and the seasonal cost will not be far from $20.

Plenty to Eat
"The boys do most of the work of tending the miniature farm as well as selling the product. They have sold $25 worth and there will be more to sell for weeks to come. The family have been provided with an abundance of vegetables to eat, while an ample supply is used for canning.

"Beans, tomatoes, cabbage, cucumbers, head lettuce, cauliflower, onions, carrots, corn, and potatoes are grown. The magnificent growth of field corn reminds one of Iowa where the tall corn grows; as it stands 10 feet high

NEW ORDINANCE FROM COUNTY FIRE DISTRICTS

Creating three new fire districts in the county, the board of supervisors yesterday adopted an ordinance regulating the use and control of explosives, burning of rubbish and distribution of advertising hand bills in fire districts within the county.

The three new districts created are designated as districts one, two and three. District one embraces all territory in Garden Grove fire district No. 1; district two, all territory in Buena Park district 2; district three, Olive fire district 3.

Gasoline
Under the new ordinance it will be unlawful to store gasoline, coal oil, naphtha or distillate in quantities of more than five gallons in containers other than automobile tanks inside of buildings or above ground within 25 feet of any building.

Storage of more than 25 pounds of explosives in buildings other than magazines is prohibited under the new law providing suit and fumigating gas is kept underground.

In districts one and two, the transportation of gasoline in trucks or quantity is prohibited in certain areas except to garages and service stations within the area. In district one the closed area is upon or along Euclid avenue and Acacia street. The closed area in district two is bounded on the north by Franklin street; on the west by east side of Western avenue; south by Orange-thorpe; and on the east by Dale avenue.

Handbills Ruled Out
The regulation requirements for the burning of rubbish and keeping of vacant lots from weeds are included in the ordinance along with the requirement that all hotels, apartments and public buildings be equipped with fire extinguishers.

Following within 300 feet of fire apparatus; crossing fire hose and the throwing of purely advertising handbills, posters or papers in yards, streets or on doorsteps, also are prohibited.

Violation of this ordinance is punishable by a fine of not more than $500 or six months in the county jail or both.

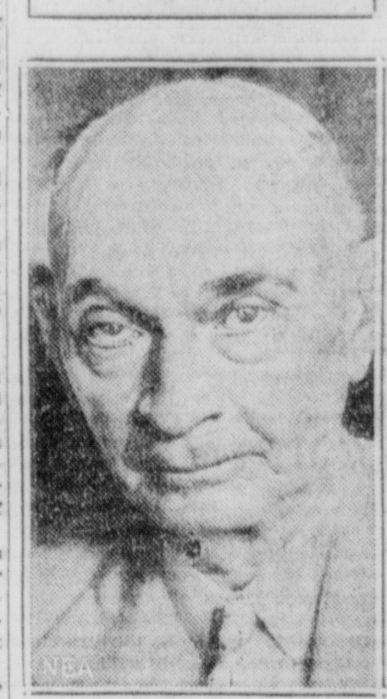

NOTE IMPROVEMENT IN INJURED YOUTH

BUENA PARK, Aug. 3.—Unless unforeseen complications arise, Wendle Sanbury, ten-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Sanbury, who was hit by an automobile last Friday, when he ran in front of the machine, will recover, it was stated Monday at the White Memorial hospital.

An automobile accident which occurred several years ago, in which he was very badly hurt has been followed by illness of different kinds. Wendle had recovered from inflammatory rheumatism that kept him confined most of last winter, and seemed to be in good health, when he darted in front of the car on Grand avenue last Friday.

BETWEEN FIRES

A clause in the relief bill requiring publicity for loan applications to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation puts a difficult problem squarely up to South Trimble, clerk of the house of representatives. Speaker Garner says the clause means full publicity; President Hoover is reported to think otherwise. Trimble must decide.

SAY LEAVES KEEP SOIL "PORES" OPEN

Leaves covering the ground not only hold a large amount of rainfall themselves, but they keep the "pores" of the soil open and allow it to absorb much more moisture than land not so covered, according to soil erosion specialists of the United States department of agriculture, it was announced today from the office of Farm Adviser Harold Whithers.

In Oklahoma an experiment is in progress to discover how much water the leafy covering in wooded land holds. Measurements showed that the amount of water held on the land was much more than the leaves could hold. The investigators found that the leaves filter the water, keep it clear and let it soak into the soil through the many cracks and holes. Where there is no leafy covering to filter the water, silt fills these pores and more water runs off the land, carrying eroded soil.

Two wooded plots of equal size were observed. One was left in the natural state, the other had the leafy covering burned off with a blow torch. A special device measured the run-off of water and the wash-off of soil. In two years, 36 times as much water and 15 times as much soil were saved on the ground carpeted with forest leaves as on the burned-over land. This shows the importance of protecting sloping land from the evil of excessive run-off of rain water and the costly loss of soil that goes with the flowing water.

STATE OFFICER WARNS AGAINST UNFAIR TACTICS

Warning to all real estate brokers and salesmen of Orange county that a vigorous campaign is now under way to weed out all operators who deal unfairly with the public has been issued by Joseph P. Smith, state real estate commissioner.

The first step in this drive, Smith said, is to list the licensees of several hundred brokers and salesmen against renewal for the 1933 period if the licensees are not revoked prior to the renewal period starting January 1, 1933.

Aiding in the campaign in this and other states are the license law officials who have entered into a co-operative movement to rid all states of undesirable real estate operators, Smith said. The California official was recently elected vice president of the Association of License Law Officials of the United States, at its recent convention in Cincinnati.

Majority Co-operate
"In this cleanup plan we also have the aid and goodwill of 95 per cent of the licensed brokers and salesmen in California who are entitled to public confidence because of their high standing with the department," Smith said. "The remaining five per cent cause all the trouble, and it is against them that our campaign is directed."

"Among those whose licenses will not be renewed are some of the largest operators in the state. No favoritism is being shown."

"If we deny renewal of the license next January on the grounds of dishonesty, untruthfulness, or bad reputation, that information is also furnished other states. Thus offenders of that character will find they cannot move from one state to another and carry on their dishonest practices."

ASKS $25,400 FOR AUTO CRASH DEATH

Charging him with careless and negligent driving, Louis Schrott has been named defendant in a $25,400 damage suit filed as the result of the death of Mrs. Elvina R. Stein in an automobile accident in Anaheim, July 19, last. The suit was filed by Charles E. Stein, husband of the dead woman and Arthur Davignon and Mrs. Daura Davignon, father and mother of the woman. Frank Schrott, brother of the driver of the car was also named as a defendant.

According to the complaint Mrs. Stein was riding in an automobile driven by her sister, Mrs. Evelyn Taylor, when the automobile driven by Louis Schrott crashed into them at the intersection of Philadelphia and Cypress streets, Anaheim. Mrs. Stein was thrown to the pavement and sustained a fractured skull from which she died a short time later.

Gift Shower Follows Announcement of Marriage date

First opportunity for friends of Miss Irene to extend their good wishes and shower gifts following announcement of her approaching marriage to Russell Daley, was afforded last night when Miss Bernadine Ashen, complicity of the bride-elect with a delightful party. The affair was given in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Ashen, 1802 French street.

September 7 is the wedding date which has been selected by Mr. Daley and Miss Irene. It was revealed at the announcement luncheon given late in July by Miss Irene's mother, Mrs. Ray Heim of this city.

In entertaining last night, Miss Ashen observed the bride and groom in all appointments. As the party was a surprise to the honored guest, first indication that she was being complimented came when she entered the room to find a table centered with a miniature bride in full wedding attire. The folds of the veil were lost in the array of packages which guests had piled high on the table. They proved to contain miscellaneous gifts for Miss Irene, who was presented with them shortly after her arrival.

The shower gifts were placed on display for the remainder of the evening, while bride was enjoyed. First and second high scores were held by Mrs. Leavitt Daley and Miss Ruth Heim. Miss Mary June Naylon was consoled.

In serving a delicious refreshment course at the conclusion of the affair, the hostess had the assistance of her mother, Mrs. Ashen, and Mrs. E. J. Voskuhl. Tables were spread with dainty Madeira, dollops and appointed with green and black glass. Floral centerpieces were of pink scabiosa. In keeping with the color scheme observed in the bouquets used in decorating throughout the rooms.

Those sharing the enjoyable occasion with the honoree, Miss Irene Heim, and her sister and mother, Miss Edna Heim, and Mrs. Ray Heim, Miss Ruth Heim, Miss Catherine Overton, Miss Helen Overton, Miss Barbara Thompson, Mrs. Leavitt Daley, Mrs. Arthur Daley, Miss Ellen Carroll, Miss Ruth Murphy, Miss Margaret Young, Miss Rose Columbi, Miss Nellie Columbi, Miss Alene Columbi, Miss Madeline Morilla, Miss Mary June Naylon, Mrs. Paul Meyers, Miss Rosemary Ashen, Miss Bernadine Ashen, Mrs. Ashen and Mrs. Voskuhl.

Carriers' Wives and Families Enjoy Park Party

A most successful social affair was shared by wives and children of members of the National Association of Letter Carriers, when they gathered in Anaheim park recently for a picnic outing. Members journeying from Santa Ana were joined by wives of the letter carriers of Anaheim, Orange and Fullerton, until it was quite a large crowd of merry-makers to enjoy a refreshing swim in the park plunge as an "appetizer" for the delectable picnic menu.

A short business session was held in one of the vine-covered bowers of the pleasure grounds, and was succeeded by a merry interval during which a game of chance, of which Mrs. Helen Valentine was sponsor, was won by Mae Gynn.

Dorcas Society Has Celebration of Birthdays

Birthday anniversaries of Mrs. F. A. Snipes and Betty Jane Holman were observed this week at the meeting of the Dorcas club of the First Christian church held at Balboa Island. Mrs. Marcus Lassiter and Mrs. G. M. Penn were hostesses, welcoming the group to "Dingle Inn," the summer home of Mrs. Lassiter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carey Clem.

A short time was devoted to the necessary business session with its reports of club activities during the past month. Some time also was given to planning a party for Dorcas club husbands on Monday, September 12, with a committee named to select the place of meeting.

For the remainder of the day, members joined in a merry social program, some of them donning bathing suits for a swim in the bay, others joining in beach games, and some remaining in the pleasant cottage to chat and sew. The group enjoyed a covered dish luncheon at noon. At this time a decorated birthday cake in honor of Mrs. Snipes and little Betty Jane was served, much to the surprise of both.

Those present were Mesdames Edna Taylor, John J. Mills, June Lawrence, Harry J. Becker, Marie Taylor, Jessie Robb, Rose Woodward, Martha Raymond, Berna Braden, A. W. Gorman, Ralph T. Murane, H. P. Flier, W. S. Buchanan, Harry J. Riehl, Walter Kennedy, R. A. Weisgerber, F. A. Snipes, E. C. Hagthorpe, Nell Miller, Maude Green, George W. Allison, Charles L. Tibbitts, D. H. Tibbitts, George Calhoun, Carl Andean, H. G. Holman, J. O. Elliott, Thomas Williams, Beatrice Thompson and the hostesses, Mrs. Lassiter and Mrs. Penn.

A group of 26 children shared the affair with their mothers.

Men Plan Surprise Party Honoring Birthday

Arriving home from a afternoon at the beach Monday, Mrs. F. A. Snipes was surprised to find a group of friends assembled in her home, 1045 Fairview home, where preparations were being completed for serving a delicious dinner.

The occasion marked Mrs. Snipes' birthday anniversary, and her husband had made plans for the surprise affair in her honor. He was assisted in carrying out all dinner details by R. A. Weisgerber and G. A. Allison. The trio of hosts had omitted nothing to make the event a "real party," arranging colorful flowers to decorate the table from which the menu was served buffet style. A large birthday cake decked with candles was an attractive feature of the dessert course.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Snipes and their children, Neal, Juanita and Evelyn, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Weisgerber and daughters, Charlotte and Beverly, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kennedy and daughter Betty, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Riehl and son Bobby, Mr. and Mrs. John Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Allison and daughter Ruth, and Larry Taylor.

County Club Officers Will Meet Friday in Mission Village

The first meeting of the new club year for members of the Orange County Federation of Women's clubs will be held all day Friday at San Juan Capistrano.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. Earl E. Smith of Anaheim, who is traveling in Europe with an eddy seminar, Mrs. C. C. Bonebrake of Orange, vice president, will be in charge of the program and plans for the day. She has announced that the session will be held at the Capistrano high school at 10 o'clock a. m. with luncheon served at the church at noon.

Although all club women are welcome, club presidents and program chairmen are especially urged to attend, as the day will include many things of interest for them.

Newport Beach Home Is Setting for Gatherings

Since they opened their summer home at Newport Beach over two weeks ago, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Lutz of 1912 Valencia street have entertained their friends at various informal affairs.

A recent event at their beach home was a dinner in honor of their son, Lawrence Lutz, a football star who arrived Friday evening from Berkeley where he has been attending summer school. Early this week, a group of his football friends were entertained at dinner. Mr. Lutz will return to Berkeley August 12 to resume his studies at the University of California.

Today, Mrs. Lutz is entertaining a group of friends from Santa Ana and Pasadena.

Visitors From Phoenix Inspires Reunion Of Old Friends

Complimenting an old friend of Phoenix, Ariz., days, Mrs. Charles S. Kendall entertained yesterday at luncheon in her home at 311 Cypress avenue, for Mrs. H. H. McNeill who has arrived from the neighboring state to spend the remainder of the summer in Los Angeles.

In planning the friendly little luncheon for her honored guest, Mrs. Kendall assembled a group of Los Angeles women who had been mutual friends in the Arizona capital, and who were delighted at the opportunity to stage a reunion during Mrs. McNeill's stay in the Southland.

Luncheon was followed by an afternoon of bridge, but even the fascinations of the game were unable to compete with the pleasure of reminiscences of earlier associations and friendships.

Sharing the hospitality with Mrs. Kendall and her honor guest, Mrs. McNeill, were Mrs. Frank Smith, Mrs. J. H. Sonntag, Mrs. Charles Aker, Mrs. E. T. Collins, and Mrs. D. H. Burtis of Los Angeles, and Mrs. George Spangler of this city.

County Temperance Union to Picnic In Irvine Park

With members of the Orange Union as host group, the annual picnic of the Orange County W. C. T. U. to be held Friday in Irvine park, promises to be one of the most interesting and best attended of any of the annual events presented by the temperance workers.

They and their families will gather from all sections of the county to enjoy a care-free morning amidst the charms of the county park, and to share at noon in the big basket dinner to which each woman will contribute some choice dish.

The afternoon will be given over to a program which will feature excellent music, according to the committee in charge, together with speakers on timely subjects. The speakers will include the Rev. Russell Stroup of Newport Beach and Chester Kline of San Jacinto, candidate for congress from the 19th district. Other entertainment features will be included, and everyone is invited to join the county organization for the day.

Wedding in Riverside Proves of Interest Locally

A wedding of interest in Orange county circles was that of Miss Rosemary Garrison, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. B. E. Garrison, of Riverside, former residents of Orange, who was married at an impressive ceremony Sunday in the home of her parents, to Robert Wilson Reynolds, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Reynolds, also of Riverside.

The service was read by the Rev. B. D. Snudden, pastor of the First Methodist church of that city. The deep green of palms and summer blossoms in delicate pastel tints were used in the decorations of the living room where the wedding took place under an arch of fern. Torchères holding tall white candles, shed a soft light over the lovely bride as she descended the stairs on the arm of her father.

Wearing a gown which had been her mother's trousseau, Miss Garrison married in beautiful picture. The cream lace gown over white satin was made with a short train; her long tulle veil was fastened in a cap effect with orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and bride's roses.

Miss Eleanor Munro, wearing a maize lace frock and carrying yellow roses, was maid of honor and William Pickler Jr. was best man. Preceding the ceremony Dr. Garrison sang "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life," and the wedding march was played by Miss Virginia Fluke.

An informal reception followed the ceremony, the bride officiating at cutting her wedding cake during the refreshment hour. Miss Jessie Gibson presided at the punch bowl and assisting in serving were Miss Dorothy Davis, Miss Marie Poteet, Mrs. Gilbert Crowell of Riverside, and Miss Mavis Campbell, and Miss Julia Campbell of Orange.

For going away the bride chose a blue and grey ensemble with blue accessories. Previous to her departure she threw her wedding bouquet which was caught by Miss Dorothy Davis, a former Orange girl. The young couple are spending a honeymoon at Catalina and in the north where they will visit the brother of the bride, William Garrison, at Stockton.

Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds will establish their home at 4191 Walnut street, Riverside, where the bridegroom is employed by the Standard Oil company. Both young people are graduates of the Riverside high school and junior college.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Garrison was gown in flowered georgette in yellow and beige and Mrs. Reynolds, mother of the bridegroom, wore orange georgette.

Those attending from Orange included the bevy of young girls who assisted in serving, Miss Julia Campbell, and Miss Mavis Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Earl E. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Swaze and Miss Helen Campbell.

Auxiliary Drill Team Sees Crew Practise In Long Beach

There was an unusually interesting finale to yesterday's meeting of the American Legion auxiliary drill team in the home of Mrs. Mark Wilson, 1718 Greenleaf street, for after the varied events planned by Mrs. Wilson, the members took an unexpected trip to Long Beach where they watched the Olympic crews practice on the water course arranged there for the big Olympic racing events.

This was found to be a most exciting and interesting experience, a fitting sequel to the pleasant day in Mrs. Wilson's home where the drill team members assembled during the forenoon hours. The hostess had a kindly neighbor who showed her liberally with flowers which were used to embellish the pretty home and to center the small tables where luncheon was served at midday.

Each member of the team had contributed some special dish to the menu, which was served to the accompaniment of colorful picnic covers and table service.

Much sewing was accomplished during the day, the guests busying themselves with the needlework until their departure about 3 o'clock for Long Beach.

In the party, in addition to the hostess, Mrs. Wilson, were Mesdames Willard Swarthout, I. A. Mercer, David M. Jellis, Fleeta Sands, Robert H. Sandon, Billie Post, George H. Sullivan, Warren K. McCarty, Charles J. Leimer, L. C. Anderson and the Misses Gladys Young and Pearl Christensen.

Surprise Party Given In Observance of Natal Date

One of the prettiest surprise parties of recent date was given the past week when Mrs. Earl McBay was hostess in her home on Prospect avenue, entertaining friends of the birthday anniversary of her mother, Mrs. C. Cratsenburg of Newport road.

Intimate friends of Mrs. Cratsenburg had been bidden to the affair, held early in the afternoon. An attractive setting for the social time was provided by bouquets of pink, orchid and yellow dahlias from the home gardens. They were in keeping with a pastel motif carried out in appointments throughout the afternoon.

Guests spent much of the time at needlework. In serving delicious refreshments, Mrs. McBay spread small tables with snowy linens, centering them with bouquets of pink pompon dahlias. A birthday cake served with other dainties was prettily decorated and topped with glowing pink and white candles. Miss Mildred Cratsenburg, a sister of Mrs. McBay, assisted in serving.

Those in the group were the honored guest, Mrs. Cratsenburg and Mrs. Linda Lauderbach, Mrs. Leon Lauderbach, Mrs. Mariah Gorton, Mrs. Luella Green, Mrs. Allison Honer, Mrs. Emma Tidball and Mrs. McBay and Miss Cratsenburg of Santa Ana and Mrs. May McPhoe of Lynwood and Mrs. Alice Gorton of Huntington Park.

The honoree received many lovely gifts.

You and Your Friends

Miss Mildred Nottingham of Schenectady, New York, has been a guest for the past week of Mr. and Mrs. Egbert L. Hull and Mrs. Lillian G. Becker, in their home at 1923 North Rose street.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred B. McCormac and daughter, Mrs. Barbara McCormac of Colusa, Calif., have arrived for a visit of a week or ten days in the home of Mr. McCormac's sister, Mrs. M. C. Maloney, 1620 North Baker street, and to attend the Olympic games.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Crenshaw and son Junior, and Mrs. Crenshaw's mother, Mrs. L. Conway, all of Oakland, were dinner guests last night in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Lee Mills, 1802 South Parton street. The Crenshaws are spending the summer at the Marine hotel, Long Beach.

Mrs. L. Conway of Oakland, has been the houseguest for the past few days of Mrs. Agnes Mills, 419 South Broadway.

Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Borchard of Fairview avenue, with their daughter Wilma and her cousin, Carolyn Borchard, daughter of the Charles Borchards, have returned from a vacation motor trip to the Yosemite which included stops at Santa Cruz, San Luis Obispo and several nearby places and cities of interest.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Ashen and sons, Harry and Jimmie, 1502 French street, have returned from Balboa Island where they spent the past few days with Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Strain and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl McBay, Prospect avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Tournat, La Colina drive, Tustin, were in Midway City last night as dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Meairs, formerly of Santa Ana. The group was completed by Mrs. Nita McKay, also of Midway City, and the children of the Meairs home, Patty Pearl and Bruce Hayes, 1226 Orange avenue.

He is confined to St. Joseph hospital where he underwent a major operation Monday. He is reported as doing as well as can be expected.

Informal Affairs Are On Quill Pen Club Calendar

An unusually interesting program offered its entertainment last night to Quill Pen members who met with Mrs. S. B. Marshall in her home at 2116 North Main street. For while the club usually lapses regular meetings during the summer in favor of beach and park parties, this year has proven an exception, and interest is maintained in the formal club programs.

However plans were made last night for several events in the immediate future which will be more social in character, including an extra meeting on next Tuesday night, when "Mrs. N. E. Wells and Miss Verna Wells will entertain with a grill supper in the garden of their home at 824 Halliday street. This will be at 6:30 o'clock with the club program to follow at 8 o'clock.

In the same week the members will motor to Hollywood to be guests of Mrs. Herman Reuter. This will be on Friday, August 12, and on the following Tuesday night, (August 16) Mrs. Clarence McCintock has invited the group to Balboa where she will entertain at a beach supper in the cottage at 217 Bay avenue.

Last night's program was a varied one, with Mrs. J. U. Vlau reading extracts from "Cross Before the Sun" to open the evening. Mrs. Marshall Harnois read the subtly humorous "Tale of a Cat"; Mrs. Marshall, the hostess, read "The Cross-Word Fan Goes Fishing," also humorous in subject and treatment, and Mrs. N. E. Wells closed the list of contributions with "Underscored," a sparkling little tale of youth and its complexities.

Discussion of the various manuscripts was a particularly interesting part of the evening, and continued unabated during the refreshment hour, when Mrs. Marshall, assisted by Mrs. Roy Winchester, served an inviting fruit-ade with sandwiches and cake.

Quill Pen members present included Mrs. J. D. Watkins, who as vice-president, presided over the sessions in the absence of Mrs. Reuter, president; Mrs. Marshall Harnois, Mrs. Harry M. Smith, Mrs. Roy Winchester, Mrs. Frank J. Was, Mrs. R. A. Cushman, Mrs. N. E. Wells, Miss Verna Wells, Mrs. Maude Goff, Mrs. J. U. Vlau, Mrs. C. M. McCintock, Mrs. Emmett Elliott and the hostess, Mrs. Marshall, with Miss Anne Marshall of the home, as the sole guest.

Miss Mead to Return From Alaskan Trip On Friday

Miss Nan Mead, daughter of the F. F. Meads, 2119 North Main street, who has spent the past month on an interesting Alaskan trip, is now in San Francisco, having reached the Bay City last Monday after her return from the "Frozen North."

Letters to her family and friends have been filled with delightful accounts of her journey in which she went as far north as Skagway after short stops at various cities en route. These included a visit in Seattle with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. DeWight Mead, who planned many pleasant things during her stay, including a trip to Mount Rainier and Paradise valley.

Miss Mead will remain in San Francisco until her brother joins her on the H. F. Alexander, and the two will return to the Southland together, reaching here Friday. W. DeWight Mead, who is state representative for Washington for the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance company, is coming south for an insurance convention to be held in Los Angeles next week, and to attend the Olympic games.

He will remain in Santa Ana over the week-end as guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Mead and their daughters, the Misses Nan and Lolita Mead.

Two Birthdays Offer Pleasant Incentive For Steak Dinner

Because the birthday anniversaries of Mrs. Roy Gowdy and of W. Dale Pickering fall within three days of each other, Mrs. Dale Pickering conceived the happy idea of celebrating the two simultaneously on Monday evening, with a steak dinner for a group of close friends in Irvine park.

The evening proved a complete success in every detail, with the luscious and juicy steaks supplemented at the dinner hour by an array of picnic salads, sandwiches and desserts.

While the party was not planned as a surprise to the two honor guests, there was one feature that was truly a surprise to them, and that was the shower of dainty handkerchiefs that fell to the fortunate lot of Mrs. Gowdy, and the amusing gifts that were presented Mr. Pickering.

The merry-makers included in addition to Mrs. Dale Pickering and Mr. and Mrs. Gowdy, the latter's young son, Junior, and infant niece, Roseann; Mr. Pickering's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Pickering; Mrs. Pickering's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stockbrand; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Price and Mrs. Price's brother, Ronald Strotman, a student at Whittier college; and Mrs. L. A. Meyer with their children, Pat and Jimmie; Mr. Mercer's mother, Mrs. Caroline Mercer, and his brother, Ronald Mercer, and Mr. and Mrs. Verl Van Ben-thusen.

Santa Ana Committee Member Interested In Olympic Ball

Culminating many months of careful planning, the various Los Angeles social events held in connection with the Olympic games are to include the International Olympic ball of Friday night in the Shrine temple under the auspices of the Olympic Art committee of which Miss Hazel Nell Bemus of this city, is a member. Miss Bemus today announced that she still had a few of the admission cards to this gala event, which may be obtained at five dollars a ticket. The ball is expected to draw a long list of notable of the social, sports and motion picture worlds, with the host organization to have its headquarters in the box with Governor Rolph and Mayor Porter.

Nine o'clock will see the formal opening of the ball, which will have interesting and unique entertainment features, including the "International supper" to be served on the balconies at 11 o'clock. Miss Bemus, a member of the art committee, is art supervisor of the Santa Ana schools with office at the board of education building. Anyone who wishes to communicate with her in regard to attending the International ball, may telephone her at 1708.

Hermosa O. E. S.

Following their usual semi-monthly meeting last night in Masonic temple, members of Hermosa chapter, O. E. S., held an Olympic contest. The business session was in charge of Mrs. Lois Osterman and Z. B. West, worthy matron and patron of the organization.

Visitors were present from Whittier and Taft as well as this city. Mrs. Winnie Dean, worthy matron of Santa Ana chapter, O. E. S., was a guest, and offered the farewell.

Refreshments of watermelon, provided by the Banner Produce company, were served preceding the Olympic games of the evening. A parade was held, with the result that Mrs. Milburn Harvey won the award. In a prize fight, Eugene McBurney and George Osterman were the winners. Mrs. Marion Wallace won the award for darts throwing, and Mrs. John Miller and Miss Alice Rugg for the woman's dash.

Mrs. Osterman was in charge of the entertainment.

Announcements

Pegasus club members will share another beach outing tomorrow when they will assemble in the forenoon at Ruby and North Bay streets on Balboa Island. The outing program will begin with swimming at 11 o'clock, followed by a picnic luncheon at 12:30 o'clock and a formal program in the afternoon.

LA HABRA
LA HABRA, Aug. 3—Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Fronts were Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Horner and daughter Jean of Fullerton and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Steadman and daughter Marian of Pomona. In the afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Doyle of Los Angeles and Mr. and Mrs. John Barksdale of Arcadia were visitors.

E. L. Journean, Vera Jane, Wayne Vincent and Lois are spending considerable time this summer at their cottage at Anaheim Landing.

Peggy Nelson of Cajon, is a house guest of Miss Ann Stanford at the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Stanford on North Hiatt street.

Members of the Weather League of the Lutheran church at Whittier held a swimming party and waterer bake on the sands of Huntington Beach Sunday afternoon. Twenty-four in all were present, and those from La Habra attending were Sophie and Paul Kruse.

MOTHER TOLD HER

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Colley and daughters Groveway and Velta, and Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Church and children Everetta and Floyd spent the week end at Huntington Beach on a camping trip. Mr. Colley left Sunday evening for Kettleman Hills where he is employed, after spending a week with his family here.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Young (Margaret Foist) have just moved into the McClure duplex on West Erna street.

Mrs. Emma Eller and Miss Pearl Eller left La Habra Sunday to return to their home in Indianapolis, after a six weeks visit in California, spending much of their time in La Habra with Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Eller.

The Rev. H. O. Simmons and family are planning a two weeks vacation trip to Huntington Beach. They expect to leave this week.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. McGill spent the past week at Weesha County Club in the San Bernardino mountains near Seven Oaks. They returned to La Habra Monday.

Over the week end, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas McGill and children Roger, and Alberta were their guests.

Miss Naomi Granger is spending this week with friends in Long Beach. During her absence, Miss Martha Iverson her roommate will be the guest of Miss Marguerite Williams.

R. O. Wright, teacher in the local school, returned this week from Alamosa, Colorado, where he and his family spent the past five weeks with Mr. Wright's parents.

EVERY month it was the same story. Headaches and backaches. Jumpy nerves. Always tired out by mid-day. She hated to talk about her trouble. She tried to hide it. But you can't hide things like that from a mother. So her mother told her—what every mother should tell her daughter.

Artificial ice is not new. It was industrially used as far back as 1880.

LEAP YEAR BRIDE

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Cherry Dixon, pretty 19-year-old daughter of wealthy parents, married Dan Phillips, newspaper reporter, after a whirlwind courtship. It is a Leap Year marriage. Cherry and Dan move into a cheap apartment and Cherry's first struggle with housework is discouraging. Dixie Shannon, movie critic of the News, is friendly. Cherry meets handsome Max Pearson, also of the News, who tries to make love to her. After several weeks Cherry's mother becomes seriously ill. The girl's home life is a constant source of contention with her parents. Pride will not allow her to accept financial aid from them, however. Mr. and Mrs. Dixon depart, seeking another climate to improve the mother's health.

Brenda Vail, magazine writer, comes to Wellington and Dan meets her. She asks him to collaborate in writing a play. Dan begins to spend most of his evenings at Miss Vail's apartment. Discord arises between Cherry and Dan. He agrees to meet her for lunch one day but fails to appear. Later she sees him at home.

Cherry accuses Dan of deceiving her and they quarrel. He leaves the apartment and week passes in which he does not hear from her. Dan asks Brenda to go to New York with him. She agrees to go in a week.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XLIV

Brenda Vail spread more of the bluish-gray paste on her face. She smeared it on like a mask beginning at the edge of the towel, pinned tightly about her forehead, and working downward to the base of her neck. She patted the soft, wet compound with her fingers and when she had finished only her eyes and mouth showed. The eyes looked like slits in the gray mask. Brenda's lips, usually so vividly crimson, were pallid and pressed together in a tight line. Selfish lips. Quick tempered lips. Cruel lips.

At last the mask was done and Brenda inspected herself in the mirror of the dressing table. Though the effect was far from flattering she seemed satisfied.

Here in the privacy of her bedroom Brenda had abandoned the luxurious chiffons and satins she usually wore. A cotton kimono, faded and soiled, was draped about her, fastened at the waist by a safety pin. Her hair was concealed by the turban-like towel. Shapeless bedroom slippers covered her feet. She rose from the dressing table, went to the chaise longue and lay back against it with a sigh. The mask must remain on her face 20 minutes and the watch at her wrist gave the time as a little after two o'clock. Brenda closed her eyes, relaxing as magazine articles by beauty experts always advise.

There was no one else in the room or in the apartment. The maid who wore the crisp, gray uniform and ruffled cap appeared there only when Miss Vail had visitors to impress. Her name was Minnie Johnson, though on duty she answered to "Yvonne." Yvonne was to arrive this afternoon at four o'clock.

Ten minutes passed and then a bell shrilled loudly. The telephone

DIVERSIFIED PROGRAM FOR KREG TONIGHT

Headed by a talk on behalf of the Orange County Children's Health Camp at 5:50 o'clock to night radio KREG will present one of the most interesting broadcasts of many days. It will combine educational features, popular music, straight comedy, and other features to please every type of listener.

The Children's Health Camp talk is one of a series being presented every Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights. They are informative on this important subject concerning the health of the boys and girls of this county. The talk tonight will outline what this project has accomplished in contributing to sound minds in sound bodies.

Two other educational features will be offered tonight. One is scheduled for 7:30 p. m. when R. R. Russick, physical education director at Y. M. C. A. gives his weekly health talk. This 15-minute program will be devoted to practical health advice for everyone.

At 8:30 the daily feature "Who's Who in Local Politics" will go on the air. At this time the qualifications of candidates appearing on the ballot for the August primary, along with the requirements of the offices for which they are making campaigns will be discussed.

In addition to the discussion some of the best band music available featuring nationally known bands will be broadcast by electrical transcription.

Another episode in the adventures of "Toby," the "Jasper Junction" will be unfolded tonight. This series of comedies was written by Myrl Carver and Bryan Burnett.

First Get the Butternut Husks

"DEAR ANN: Some time ago you printed directions for dyeing gray hair with "Butternut Husks." Will you please tell me where to get them? I have tried many drug stores and they all say they can get the root and bark but no husks.—GRAY-HAIRED MOTHER."

Once and for all let me settle this question of butternut husks: The husk clings to the nut. If you can find a grocer or nut vendor who can get them for you, that is the easiest way; if you can't, perhaps you have friends or relatives in the New England states who could get them for you.

The nuts are boiled to extract the color in the husks, and it is used to rinse the hair after shampooing and is brushed along the length of the hair daily until the right color is attained. I have no knowledge of this method other than the experience of a reader who sent the formula for publication.

TODAY'S RECIPE

A Quick Cheese Sauce
2 cups rich milk
2 tablespoons corn starch
1-4 cup cold water
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1 tablespoon paprika
1-2 pound grated cream cheese
1 scant cup heavy mayonnaise
Juice of 1 or more lemons

I think this is a real find. I don't know whether it is original, and I don't care—at least it is original to me, if not WITH me. And as a time saver it is the world's best discovery. I was having cauliflower yesterday and found myself out of butter. A quick sauce had to be put together and I was at my wits' end what to use when the jar of mayonnaise caught my eye and I decided to sacrifice the cauliflower and the family's stomach on the altar of Culinary Experimentation. It is sufficient to say that they survived the ordeal and were caught, one and all, doing a first-class job of dunking the left-over sauce.

In making these cheese sauces the first step is to make a thick cream sauce and cook it five or ten minutes all by itself. With this well-cooked base cheese and lemon blend and the sauce can be reheated over hot water without curdling. Think what that means in convenience—you can make a lot of it, keep it in the refrigerator, and have all sorts of good dishes, at a moment's notice.

Tomorrow's recipe demonstrates one of its uses—there are many more.

Bring the milk to a boil and thicken with the cornstarch dissolved in cold water. Cook over hot water 10 minutes, then slowly stir in the grated cheese and keep stirring until melted. The sauce will mix more smoothly if dusted over the cheese, so put them in that way. When the cheese is pretty well melted, add the cup of mayonnaise by degrees, and keep whipping the sauce all the time. The lemon juice is added after the sauce is taken off the fire and a brisk whipping follows its addition.

Serve over boiled cauliflower, use as a hot sauce, make cheese potatoes with it, use it over salmon and halibut or in sandwiches.

Re-heat in a double boiler over a low heat. Keep it well stirred as it heats.

The calories total approximately 2000 for 3 cups of this sauce. This works out at 45 calories per tablespoonful. Body-builders are here in plenty as well as the inevitable energy-motors.

AN IDEAL SUMMER LUNCHEON is offered free of charge this week if you will include a stamped, self-addressed envelope when you write for it.

Thursday's recipe will be Fried Summer Squash.

Hospital Chief Takes Vacation

SAN CLEMENTE, Aug. 3.—Dr. Francis O'Neill, resident physician of the San Clemente Community hospital, has left for a month's vacation. His place during that time will be taken by Dr. Paul Esslinger of San Juan Capistrano, who will have office hours at the hospital here. Dr. Carl Wagner, Pasadena, director of the hospital and Dr. Ralph Tandowsky, Pasadena, will spend three days of each week in San Clemente during Dr. O'Neill's absence.

"It's because I'm nervous," she told herself, "and there's no reason for it. Of course everything's going to be all right!"

She went back to the kitchenette to give Yvonne final instructions. It was 20 minutes past four now.

"He'll be here any minute," Brenda assured herself. She took a cigarette from a lacquered box, lit it and placed it to her lips. Then she sat down. It amused her to think of Dan Phillips. Headache—she had imagined that very nicely! How could she bother with that tiresome youth when the great chance of her career was at hand?

"So he's given up his job!" she thought. "Won't he be surprised to hear the news. The idiot! There's a scene, of course. Well, he's brought the whole thing on himself!"

Brenda shrugged, smiling. An instant later the bell rang and Yvonne hurried through the room to answer it.

"Now!" Brenda whispered to herself. "Now!"

There were voices in the foyer. Another instant and a figure flung itself through the doorway. Dan Phillips stood there waving something in his hand.

"Brenda!" he cried. "What does this mean?"

A strange, hair-raising thriller, which is said to be "out-Dracula Dracula," is "Murders in the Rue Morgue," Universal's version of Edgar Allan Poe's Parisian drama which opens its first showing in Santa Ana today at Walker's State theater.

Bela Lugosi, the original Dracula of both stage and screen enacts the leading male role of the new picture, and is seen in a characterization which is said to excel his former one in power and spine-tingling menace. Lugosi plays the role of Dr. Mirakle, a doctor with a warped brain, who is intent on introducing the blood of a gigantic ape into the veins of a living girl, and his ruthless pursuit of his mad experiments is said to bring to "Murders in the Rue Morgue," a fascinating quality of strange horror.

"KID" PARTY HELD AT CYPRESS HOME

CYPRESS, Aug. 3.—A "kid" party was given Sunday night by Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Coburn at their home in honor of Mr. Harry Coburn. A pleasing time was had by all the guests, who lost all their formality in the clever "kid" costumes. They romped and played and were "just kids" again for the occasion.

A beautiful birthday cake was brought out and divided among the guests with other refreshments.

Those who enjoyed this unique party were: Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Curtis, Mr. and Mrs. George Rush-ton, Mrs. John Melhogan, and Earl Christian of Long Beach; Mrs. Maude Shirk, Mrs. Grace Johnston, Gladys and Peggy Johnston, Ruth Anderson, and William Haviland, all of Minneapolis; H. L. McAusland, Mr. and Mrs. Don Grindlay, Melvin Coburn, the honored guest, Harry Coburn, and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. James Coburn.

SET FUNERAL DATE FOR NEWPORT MAN

NEWPORT BEACH, Aug. 3.—The funeral of Mark Rawlins, 78, will be held from the Cheum Funeral home of Costa Mesa Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The deceased was fishing from the pier Monday evening when suddenly he toppled over. An ambulance was called and he was rushed to the Newport Beach hospital where an autopsy was held by Dr. G. M. Grundy. He was pronounced dead, death resulting from chronic heart trouble.

Mark Rawlins had been a resident of the beach for the past 12 years, coming from England, his birthplace. He has no known relatives in the United States. Cremation will take place at the Central Memorial park.

Monthly Bridge Club Meet Held

CYPRESS, Aug. 3.—The Bridge-ettes met again recently at the home of Mrs. Neils Fitzgerald for their monthly bridge club meeting. After a very delightful evening of cards, prizes were awarded to Mrs. Vern Sneek for high score and consolation to Mrs. Florence Kirk. Mrs. Kirk was also presented with a prize which represented the highest average score for the last six months.

Delicious cream pie and coffee were then served for refreshments. Those members present were Mesdames Earl Smith, Dan Macky, Charles Dooling, Flossie Kirk, Fred Mackay, Jerry Woods, Steve Luther, James Coburn, Vernon Snell, Misses Lora Robertson, Evelyn and Georgia Rae Fitzgerald, and the hostess, Mrs. Neils Fitzgerald.

Funeral Held for Walter S. Hamer

PLACENTIA, Aug. 3.—Funeral services for Walter S. Hamer, Placentia resident who died Sunday afternoon, were held at 2 p. m. yesterday at the McAulay and Suters Funeral home, with the Rev. E. J. Stetson, former pastor of the Fullerton Presbyterian church, officiating. Interment was at Loma Vista.

The decedent was a resident of Placentia for but a short time. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Minnie Hamer, and by seven daughters and two sisters.

"FIRST YEAR" ENDS BROADWAY SHOWING

Most anyone in the world can visualize Janet Gaynor kissing Charles Farrell, but it takes a vivid imagination to picture her knocking him cold with a vase.

An accident, of course, let it actually happen during the hilarious mixup of the dramatic climax in "The First Year," their latest Fox romantic comedy closing today at the Fox Broadway theater. However, the vase incident which makes Charlie a fit applicant for emergency treatment also occasions an excuse for Janet to gather him in her arms and to administer her curative kisses to the wound.

"LADY AND GENT" STARTS TOMORROW

Bancroft has one of the most amusing, and at the same time one of the most human roles of his career in the picture, in which he is suddenly called upon to decide between continuing his life as a not-so-big "big shot" in the shady areas just west of Broadway, or becoming the foster-father of the 12-year-old son of a dead friend.

Playing opposite the husky star is petite Wynne Gibson, cast as a hard-boiled blonde night-club proprietress. She shares Bancroft's life, both before and after the decision is made.

Also in the cast are Charles

UNUSUAL FILM AT WEST COAST WELL RECEIVED

"Madame Racketeer," starring Allison Skipworth, Richard Bennett, George Raft and Evelyn Knapp, a picture which will be wholly enjoyed here, opened a three day run at the Fox West Coast theater last night.

The story of a countless, who could steal anything any man had and who does, the film is one of those rare comedies which comes to the screen just once in a while and which sends the audience out of the house still laughing at the peculiar situations in which the countless finds herself and how she so easily pushes the man aside to gain her end.

She is a lovable scoundrel, but over it all she proves herself a real woman when she returns to her home from prison and finds many obstacles in the paths of her daughters' marriages. She immediately sets about to clear the path for them. How she does it is startling, comical and highly entertaining, for her slippery fingers work, fast and her loose conscience does not worry her in the least.

ROME—We can expect another continent to rise up out of the earth in the South Atlantic ocean, according to predictions of Prof. Ugo Mondello, noted Italian geologist. He says the new continent is the sequel to the recent volcanic disturbance in South America.

When Coppy saw the big, fat pig he jumped and then began to jig. "Oh, let me ride on that," he cried. "It won't toss me around."

"Of course the piggy may move slowly because his body is so low, but I am glad to have one that is built close to the ground."

"All right, hope on," the man replied. "I'm sure you'll have a dandy ride. Just hang on to the fat pig's ears and then you'll hold your seat."

So Coppy promptly climbed aboard. The other happy Tynaries roared. "My goodness, you look funny," shouted Duncy. "It's a treat."

"Oh, look! An elephant I've found," cried Windy. "He's high from the ground, but I will try him anyway. Who'll help me get in place?"

"I will," said Scouty. "I am used to giving Tynaries a boost. Then I will pick an animal and we will have a race."

The balloon man smiled and said, "I fear that you will find no speed beasts here. They're all so fat they cannot run. Yet they might bounce along."

"However, Tynies, have your fun and make them bounce and run. I'm sure the big balloons won't cause any trouble they are good and strong."

A funny "Moo! Moo!" then was heard. Wee Scouty didn't say a word, but rushed up to a puffed up cow and grabbed him by the horn.

"Hold still, there, bossy," Scouty cried. "Right on your back I'm going to ride. Please hold your head up high because you're looking quite forlorn."

Wee Duncy was the last of all. He picked a giraffe, lean and tall. "How am I going to climb on him?" the little fellow cried. The kind balloon man said, "I'll lend a hand," and Duncy cried, "That's grand!"

In just a moment everyone was ready for a ride.

SPORTS CLOTHES and the HAPPY WEEK-END

THE GAME will be yours, whether the official score says so or not, if you play tennis in the wash silk frock shown at the left. The belt is high, the skirt is full enough to permit plenty of action, and the bandanna handkerchief that makes the collar is generously splashed with bright polka dots. Another bandanna will keep your hair in place.

You may be a whiz on the tennis court or the golf links, but you won't be the girl the men want to meet unless you go to the house party with clothes that enable you to dress the part

ALMOST anything can happen on a week-end house party. Or rather, it can if you take along a few intriguing frocks.

If you don't, your stroke may be perfect, and you may never net a ball on the tennis court, but you'll be out of the social swim, and there won't be much chance of a love set. After all, you want some admiration when you demonstrate your athletic skill, and nothing brings it as completely or quickly as the right clothes.

Clothes may not make the woman, but they certainly help her to display her charms. The effect on your confidence, when your mirror has been complimentary, can't be told with mere words.

Week-ends require a rather extensive wardrobe this year. This shouldn't frighten you. Clothes are so inexpensive, so light and crushable, that you will be able to get by without too much baggage, as well as without spending too much money.

First of all, make sure that you are worth observing when you arrive at the party. Be the girl whom all the men want to meet instead of just another guest.

Printed chiffons are cool and comfortable for traveling. Brief jackets sound a formal touch that is decidedly feminine and interesting. Avoid a businesslike appearance. Look as though you expect something nice to happen to you—and it will.

YOU will need a tennis frock, in case tennis is one of your games. Choose one that is simple and brighten it with an audacious gypsy scarf.

Swimming suits can help you make a worthwhile splash in the water, if you choose a color that is flattering, and a style that is provocative. Don't think that any old thing will do. It may, if you just want exercise. But it won't if you want attention.

A spectator's suit should be enclosed, and probably a frock for golf. And you can't overlook the evening gown for wear when the stars come out. Choose one that is soft and clinging and appealing.

Styles have gone feminine. Be demure in a mysterious way. If you want a gown for tea, a flowered chiffon is always effective.

Make sure that your colors are gay and bright, without being flamboyant or startling. Don't be ornate in your choice of design. Simplicity always wins.

YOU will know you are a success if you go around the golf course in the Russian corded dress above. It is severely tailored, but the pleated skirt allows plenty of room.

SPECTATOR sports won't bore you, no matter how long they last, if you watch them in this suit of white chalk crepe, which has a scarf and belt of navy or brown crepe dotted with large coin dots of white. The front of the dress is slit in order to let the scarf pass through. The jacket has long, loose sleeves.

EVERYBODY will be glad you came if you arrive at the house party in this dark chiffon frock. It is shirred in a delightfully feminine manner, and makes use of a broken white stripe for its design. The jacket is brief enough to be interesting, the sleeves are full enough to be cool, and there is a big white museline de soie bow.

YOU WON'T have any trouble getting your stride in the water if you choose this basket knit swimming suit, which is fashioned from rough white, and ties in back with a big white bow. The bustline is high and tucked. The capelet comes in the same knitted fiber. It is brown, trimmed with a row of white buttons.

THIS TALK OF REVOLUTION

Every now and then, one hears some one speak of a possible revolution if the present depression continues. Hungry people, it is said, make up the material for revolution. If once the masses of the unemployed become possessed of a common emotion, says one, the revolution will be on. Such is the experience of Russia, of China, of Mexico, and many other Latin states.

But will that be the case here in the United States? For one who thinks it may be, a reading of an article in the current Atlantic Monthly entitled "Will Revolution Come?" may revise his opinion. In that article the writer says: "Revolution will not come to the United States, because there seems to be in this country an automatic process for the redistribution of wealth and economic power, and because there is no army." "No revolution has ever been successful," says this writer, "until the army has become revolutionary." If such be the case, that we have an automatic process for peaceful change, and we have no army sufficiently large to do more than quell a sporadic riot here and there, why should we think even of the remote possibility of a revolution?

During every extraordinary period such as the one through which we are passing, there is a pessimistic mood which forgets the stable foundations upon which our democracy rests, and conjures up dire forebodings of possible shock and convulsion. Those who have everything to gain by the maintenance of things as they are see signs and portents of violent change; and there are those who feed upon the fears and cupidities of those to feather their own nests. There are multitudes of fearful people who are ready to make their contribution to a "Save America Association" because they have been made to believe that there is a bolshevik around every corner and under every bed, when, as somebody has remarked, there are not enough of them in the country to turn over a good-sized apple.

The only chance that we shall ever have a revolution in this country is when we heed the pernicious and insinuating hints that what we need is a strong ruler, or that it would be a good thing for business and the country if Congress which contains the representatives of the people should give our thoughtful people pause. They do not sense the danger in such insidious flings. It harks to the man on horseback, or to the iron-fisted ruler who offers the boon of death to the first man who dares question his authority.

Let us think better of the common sense of the people of the United States. When some one suggests revolution, he does not know what he is talking about. And when someone would prey upon the fears of those timid souls who imagine a bolshevik around every corner, let us hold him up to the light to see what he is really after. It may be that we shall find some selfish motive behind it. Revolution can never become a major sport in the United States so long as we give free play to those automatic processes which make for orderly change, and there is no army.

SENATOR BORAH, AN ENIGMA

Senator Borah declared in Chicago yesterday that he will not support the Republican Hoover-Curtis ticket, and he will not support the Roosevelt-Garner ticket, and he is not interested in a third party.

He did say he would support the Republican state ticket in his home state. He says he doesn't like the Republican platform, but there is one thing he likes about the Democratic platform, and that is, it was frank and in the open, but he said he doesn't agree with it.

Borah is hard to understand. If he feels so deeply on these things, and we don't question that, we cannot understand why he doesn't become a candidate himself upon a third ticket. Certainly he must have some convictions as to how one should vote nationally.

We are rather of the opinion that there are very few who are in complete and hearty agreement with any platform or any candidate.

There are probably more people in the country who are out of harmony either with their platform or their candidate in both national parties than has ever been true in the history of the country. There will be a great many vote a protest ticket of a third party, without having strong convictions for the third party, simply to protest against their own party.

A great many are believing that Mr. Hoover has done the best that any man could do under the circumstances, and that he has been the victim of conditions over which he has no control, that he hasn't had a chance, but would rather trust him with the certainty of where he stands than the uncertainty of change.

A great deal of water will go over the wheel between now and election day. Business conditions may be constantly getting better. There have been problems that had to be met that have been in a way greater than those even of the Civil war, and we all recognize that there is nothing easier than to criticize over every mooted question. Probably the easiest thing to do is to do what Borah is doing.

But at the same time the country must be run, and we must exercise discrimination and judgment on election day, and not simply express dissatisfaction with all and wander around in the maze. We are going somewhere. We are headed in some direction, and we either want to head in that direction, or help go in some other direction.

A few more of these big league baseball-fistic encounters and they'll need a referee as well as an umpire at every game.

SNAKES

Successful mothers must be resourceful, ingenious, reliable. They must be prepared to bind up cuts and soothe hurt feelings. An exception that proves the fact was noted last night in the news dispatches. A tot ran in from the yard with the story that the hose was moving in the yard. The mother went out to see, found the moving hose was a black snake and shot off the head! Mothers do everything and anything when necessary for their children, but fortunately they are not called upon to shoot snakes very often, for such excellent marksmanship is not common among mothers.

There has been an unusually large number of snake stories lately. The other day a child was protected from a deadly rattler by a pet dog. A child playing in the yard reached twice to pick a rose, the dog barked wildly and diverted the child. Third time the child reached, the dog was driven to attacking the rattler and killing it so as to protect the child.

Truth is stranger than fiction. But if the number of these astounding snake stories continue to increase one will begin to wonder whether there is any connection between them and the repeal planks in the Democratic and Republican platforms.

On Returning Books
Christian Science Monitor

The "Book Sunday once a year" proposal now gaining support in Britain is not a literary movement. Nor is it, as might be easily supposed, a concerted plan of publishers to resuscitate the reading habit among the millions whose present reading is chiefly confined to that of captions in the talks. Book Sunday, its sponsors urge, should be a day "on which people should look through the books in their houses and return those which do not belong to them to their rightful owners." A pretty and a sound idea.

When Polonius gave his sage and oft-quoted advice anent the indiscretion of either borrowing or lending he was probably thinking more of lucre than of literature. And some cynic will doubtless rise to point out that, anyway, the custom urged upon Laertes has been "more honored in the breach than the observance." That accusation, however, applies to the borrower of books may be stoutly denied.

His conscience is easily stirred. Show him the way of return and he quickly speeds along. This has been proved only recently. The public library in an American city announced that if borrowers would return long-overdue books with a certain period, no fines would be imposed. The response was immediate and gratifying. Long-lost books fairly poured into the library's bookshelves.

"Lost books," it is perhaps a misnomer, a solecism. The most dilatory of borrowers may generally be credited with the intention, at least, to return the volume sometime. His very affection for it makes him loath to part with it—a fault surely more venial than venal.

If the French poet waxed melancholy over the "sad fate of each lent book," it was probably because he lived in an age of starved and bartered sophistication when homely virtues were seldom sung. Against such untrusting attitude one prefers the sturdy optimism of the librarian who, according to a writer in the London Observer, replied to a visitor's remark that many books must be lost, "Sir, no book is ever lost; it only changes hands."

Literacy Gains Shown By Census Bureau Report

The Census Bureau's definition of an illiterate is a person 10 years of age or over who is unable to read and write in any language. On that standard the number of illiterates in the United States in 1930 was 4.3 per cent of the population. In 1920 it was 6 per cent. There has been steady improvement since the 13.3 per cent of 1890.

An interesting feature of the situation is that pure native stock lags behind native whites of foreign or mixed parentage. This is explained by the residence of native stock largely in rural districts, while a larger proportion of the natives of foreign or mixed stock live in cities and towns where school facilities are good and in many cases compulsory.

At present, persons over 45 years old have the highest illiteracy percentage of all age groups. Children between 10 and 14 make the best showing, with only 1.2 per cent illiteracy, a rate which speaks well for the schools and promises well for the future. When that generation has reached 65 its illiteracy percentage may be lower, and children coming along in the next few decades should have better opportunity for education even in the remote rural regions.

We may one day be a nation as nearly 100 per cent literate as is humanly possible.

More Truth Than Poetry
By James J. Montague

A LAMENT

Accustomed in my youthful days
To bring in wood and feed the chickens,
I used to dodge, in crafty ways,
A job that irked me like the dickens.
I swore I'd sometime loll at ease
Like some of our more wealthy neighbors,
And spend my days beneath the trees
Unwearied by distressing labors.

That dream has partially come true;
Though life is still a bitter tussle,
The sort of work I have to do
Does not involve the use of muscle.
The product of my so-called brain
May not be much, yet still I sell 'em,
Nor need I put a grueling strain
Upon my nerves and cerebrum.

Yet somehow I do not recoil
From any work, however painful,
Or any hard protracted toil
That I do not consider gainful.
At night I often have to take
An easy and relaxing toddy
To still the dull, distracting ache
In every muscle of my body.

No chicks I feed, no wood I hew,
No load of any sort I carry,
No muscle straining work I do
Because I find it necessary.
What causes all the aches and pains
That torture me beyond all measure,
When softly summer twilight wanes,
Is golf—and I play that for pleasure.

STILL A COME ON

Little Benny's
Note Book
by Lee Pape

Pop was smoking to himself and ma said, Well, I suppose you dreamed sweet dreams last night about that Mrs. Pewsey.

That who? pop said, and ma said, You know very well who, you spent hours last night at the Hewses talking to her in a corner like a lost turtle dove. What you found attractive in that red hatted scarecrow is completely beyond my human comprehension, she said.

I didn't find her attractive physically, perish the thought, pop said. Mentally she's a brilliant woman, but I had to carefully turn my eyes away while I talked to her. Yee gods, she had a complexion made up exclusively of big freckles interspersed with little freckles, and her eyes didn't look the same way and I don't even believe they were the same color, and she had a broken nose and a long under lip and a neck like a pipestem, he said.

Well now Willyum, it's not nice to "isaggrate," ma said. Of course, I admit she wasn't a raving beauty by any conceivable stretch of the wildest imagination, but still many people would consider a woman of that type good looking in a way. But my goodness what made her so brilliant? I mean what did she say to give you the impression that she had such a marvelous exceptional brainy mind? she said.

Well, her most sparkling remark was to the effect that I was the most intriguing conversation-alist she ever listened to, pop said, and ma said, Now Willyum Potts you're just trying to get out of the state of affairs. During her true state of affairs is that you thwart that awful looking creature was the most beautiful woman you ever layed eyes on.

Yee gods its going to start all over again, pop said.
Wich it did.

In the Long Ago

14 Years Ago Today.
From The Register Files

AUGUST 3, 1918

Mrs. J. H. Leebrick, secretary at the Social Service league headquarters, left for her old home in Burlington, Iowa, to spend a six weeks' vacation. During her absence the office was filled by Mrs. Sornell while J. P. Hatfield assumed charge of the Red Cross civilian relief work.

C. W. Crookshank, Orange county food administrator, called attention to the new governmental rules regarding the use of sugar, and which became effective on August 1. The maximum allowance of sugar for household purposes was cut from three pounds to only two pounds per person per month. Public eating houses were allowed two pounds of sugar for every 90 meals served.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mize were home from a two weeks' stay at camp Rincon in the San Gabriel mountains.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Chandler and Mr. Chandler's father, Ira Chandler, had returned from a pleasant stay in Bear Valley.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

MARRYING CAPITALISM TO SOCIALISM

In the coming campaign we shall hear much about defending capitalism against socialism and other radicalisms.

The short-sighted people see the problem of capitalism and socialism as a clearly drawn battle between two logically clear systems.

This, of course, is in no sense the case.

Neither capitalism nor socialism is a logically clear system, save in a few theoretical text-books, never in actual operation.

Each, wherever men have attempted to apply either, has been a cut and dried attempt to administer affairs in the light of a few basic assumptions which, in actual practice, have been monthly and yearly modified by the impact of brute facts.

And each has reacted upon and modified the other.

Socialistic thought has profoundly affected capitalistic thought and capitalistic action throughout the world.

In like manner capitalistic thought and capitalistic action have profoundly affected socialistic practice where socialism has assumed the responsibility of government.

This is notably true in Russia.

where Stalin and his colleagues have bootlegged back into a sovietized economy many capitalistic practices in order to gain efficient results.

Mankind is very susceptible to the argumentative appeals of clear-cut systems.

When preached from platforms clear-cut systems seem to offer to mankind escape from the baffling complexities of day-to-day life.

But when the pinch comes mankind always rebels against a clear-cut system if that system seeks to turn him into a mere checker to be moved about on the checker board in order to preserve the clear-cutness of the system.

Mankind will not permanently tolerate a socialism that suppresses the individual even if it acknowledges a social obligation.

Mankind will not permanently tolerate a capitalism that ignores its social obligation even if it cries aloud in praise of individualism.

The future will see socialism and capitalism alike purged of their vices and will see their virtues merged in a regime of socially minded individualism.

CALLING NAMES

Calling names is a childish pastime likely to become an unpleasant habit. Susie sits on the doorstep chanting, "Charley parley," and Charley swinging on the gate opposite calls back, "Susie choosie," and they smile broadly between chants. That isn't calling names. That's just an affectionate greeting done in rhyme.

When anger rises, names are hurled as weapons and they hurt as such.

"You think you're smart, don't you? Well you're not so much." "Oh, ain't I? Fishmouth."

"Fishmouth yourself, you spotted turkey egg."

That's war. When it starts, the sooner the combatants are separated and given time and space to cool off in, the better. Hard names have a habit of sticking in one's memory and festering there. They should be proscribed as coming under the head of personalities. Good manners forbid all personalities in an argument. That is one rule that ought to be strictly enforced. It is all very well to say that "sticks and stones will break my bones but names will never hurt me." I have a notion that if you followed that brave cry home you would find it with its head in the pillow sobbing violently. A crack with a stick is forgotten and forgiven long before the smart of the derisive name is soothed.

We older folks ought to be a bit cautious about naming names. We seem to think we have accomplished something when we hurl a name at something that annoys us. Having named it "Disgusting race," "Graft," "Imbecility," "Indecency," we are content. The situation or the process that called out our wrath continues as before. Nothing has been done about it. We did our share when we spat it out of our mouths. Not quite enough. There is one more step to go. Action might well precede the naming and so save the energy for a better cause.

There is one strong point about this naming things. It may be a good one or a bad one, according to what we do with it. Whenever we name any thing we bring that idea strongly into our thinking. We give it certain reality as far as we are concerned with it. If we feel a bit queer and we give a name to the feeling we can have rheumatism or neuritis or indigestion or any other pseudo ill we choose. If a child is a bit out of sorts and we name his difficulty as bad temper, hysterics, nerves, we have poured the mould that may encompass him for some time to come. If the other way around, we put names on the fine qualities we see and feel about us we fix them in our minds and upon the characters of those who express them.

There is a lot in a name which ever way you look at it. Bad names are weapons that create hate and defeat. Good names are inspirations that stimulate health and beauty. Correct names are facts that ought to be faced and met actively. All names have meaning and force far beyond the power of the breath that is used in speaking them.

Give a child a good name and you put him under everlasting obligation to you as a benefactor. You call attention to his good qualities and you stimulate him to acquire them in a greater degree and in finer form. Name only what is good and you serve high ends for yourself and for others, the children included.

AMERICANS TAKE FISMES

On Aug. 3, 1918, advancing American troops occupied Fismes, in the Marne sector of the western front, to climax a day of great progress for the allies on a 45-mile front. Virtually the entire Alsace-Vosges front between Sollesons and Rheims was now in the hands of the allies. During the day, French and American forces occupied more than 100 square miles of territory.

German losses during the great battle which had been raging nearly three weeks were believed higher than in any similar period during the war.

Equipment taken during the day by French and American soldiers was valued at more than $5,000,000.
